SOVIET TO REDUCE TROOPS

—JUNIOR COLLEGES—

NU Takeover Bill Advanced

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A bill which would allow the University of Nebraska to take over the facilities of any junior college was advanced to the floor of the Legislature Tuesday on a 5-2 vote of the Education Committee.

The measure, LB122, provides that any such transfer must receive the approval of NU's Board of Regents and the governing body of the affected junior college.

In other action, the committee advanced on a 4-2 vote LB193, providing mandatory state aid of $400 per pupil for the education of trainable mentally retarded children. The bill was heard at an earlier date.

Aid Bill Held

LB484, authorizing state aid to junior colleges for establishment of vocational technical schools or programs, was held for further study.

Killed in executive session was LB327, providing for publication of Class I school district budgets. Vote was 4-3.

LB122, introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, attracted heavy support from Scottsbluff and Fairbury residents. Both communities have junior colleges.

Nebraska's 4 junior colleges —others are located in Norfolk and McCook—are supported by the local school districts in which they exist.

Only opposition was voiced by Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha, who warned that development of a statewide NU "colossus" would seriously damage the growth of private colleges and the state normal schools.

'Desirable Goal'

Carpenter suggested that a statewide network of higher education under one common board is a desirable long-range goal.

Further, he proposed that "the area of taxation (for higher education) should be enlarged to the extent of taking care of all interested in a higher education."

From a practical political consideration, Carpenter noted that attachment of the junior colleges to NU "would give the university 4 to 8 more senators."

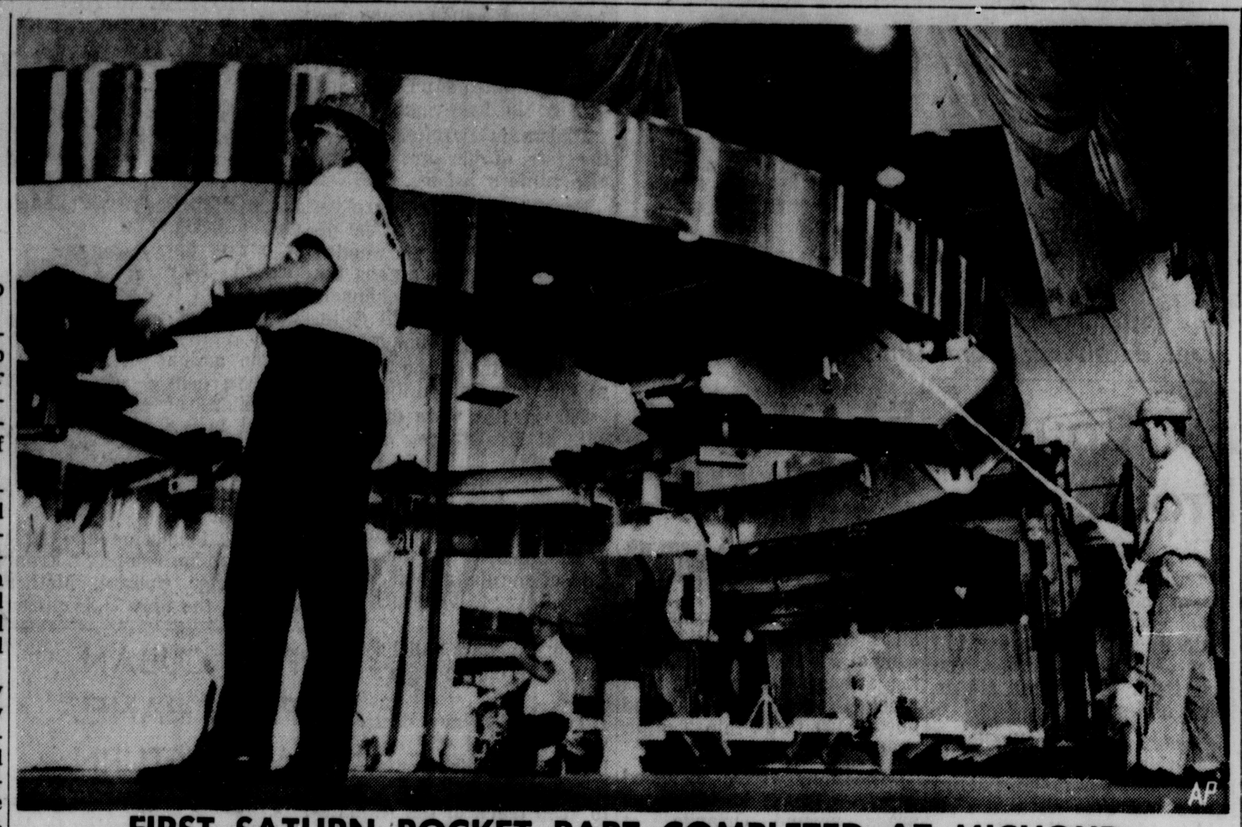

The bill was amended—at the suggestion of Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth—to provide that the university "shall use" junior college facilities if they are taken. Original language of LB122 provided permissive authority to use the facilities if NU's budget was sufficient to do so.

Proponents told the committee the bill would keep western youth in the state for their higher education, increase junior college attendance and allow distribution of financial responsibility.

Sen. Clifton Foster of Bradshaw said the measure would "upgrade" junior college programs, accelerate development of a statewide system of higher education and "might take some of the load off NU in the freshman and sophomore years."

LB484, also sponsored by Carpenter, was backed by State Education Commissioner Dr. Floyd Miller, who said Nebraska needs another full-scale trade school like the one at Milford and junior college technical programs.

It appeared unlikely that the bill will clear its committee hurdle.

Cuba Force Faces Slash

. . . OF SEVERAL THOUSAND

Washington (AP)—The Kremlin has told President Kennedy it plans to pull several thousand more Russian troops out of Cuba by March 15, U.S. sources said Tuesday.

The renewed Soviet assurance of military withdrawal from Cuba reportedly arrived Monday in a diplomatic message handed to the State Department by the Soviet Embassy here.

Its general content was confirmed Tuesday by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., one of a group of congressional leaders of both parties who were summoned to a hastily arranged meeting with the President at the White House Monday night.

Discussed

Stennis, who is chairman of the Senate Preparedness Committee, told a reporter the message from Moscow was discussed by Kennedy at the secret 40-minute White House session.

General word of the message was withheld until Tuesday, when it was first disclosed by diplomatic informants.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, was firm in refusing to comment on Kennedy's session with the congressional leaders. However, he would not preclude the possibility that he might have something to say later—but not Tuesday.

Not Pegged

Asked if the White House would keep silent pending Kennedy's next news conference, scheduled for 3 p.m., CST Thursday, Salinger replied, "I'm not pegging it to that."

The continued presence in Cuba of an estimated 17,000 Russian troops and technicians has been of major concern to the Kennedy administration — and a prime target of congressional and other critics of Kennedy's foreign policy.

Main U.S. focus has been on the approximately 5,000 heavily armed, mobile ground combat troops the Soviets have kept on the Caribbean island. They are organized into 4 battalions of about 1,200 men each and have been stationed at strategic points.

Not Specific

U.S. diplomats said the Kremlin note did not specify exactly how many Russians would be withdrawn. U.S. guesses on what "several thousand" meant ranged all the way from 3,000 to 8,000.

Stennis did not mention any figure. He said "this is an encouraging development but it is just the first step of many that must be taken before the Cuban threat is cleared up."

Other Congress members expressed varied reactions.

"What's a few thousand?" asked Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz. "There should not be one Soviet soldier or technician left in Cuba."

Indefinite

Goldwater said he understood the Soviet promise was very indefinite as to time and numbers and that it was not a result of any pressure by the United States.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., said "I hope this is just a start," adding that this country must "keep up the pressure."

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the administration is adopting a wait-and-see attitude toward the promised troop withdrawal.

Continuation

"As I see it," Mansfield said, "this is a continuation of the start that already had been made with the withdrawal of from 4,500 to 5,000 of the estimated 22,000 Russians in Cuba."

Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said he was not surprised by the word of a further Soviet withdrawal. In Chicago for a speaking engagement, Stevenson indicated he had not known of the development but told a newsman "I am not surprised."

JFK Still Desires Tax Reforms, Slice

. . . DESPITE DEMANDS

Washington (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said Tuesday in the face of growing opposition that President Kennedy still wants Congress to carry out tax reforms along with a tax cut.

Mansfield made the statement after a White House conference of legislative leaders which covered the question of whether the President's plans should be put in one package. There have been congressional demands that taxes be cut now and reforms put off until later.

Emerging from the meeting, Mansfield said he wanted to point out that "as far as the administration is concerned, they still are in favor of tax cut and tax reforms."

"They are sticking to their original intent," Mansfield told reporters. "It is now up to the House Ways and Means Committee. I just meant to emphasize once again what the administration originally proposed."

Mansfield said, however, that it's really up to Congress now on what to do about the President's tax plans.

"It isn't up to the administration now," he said. "The House writes the tax bills. After they are through we (the Senate) begin to take an active part in writing this legislation."

Before the White House session, Senate Democratic whip Hubert Humphrey, Minn., said he believed tax reform and a tax cut should be separated so that priority could be given immediately to cutting taxes.

"There are a number in Congress close to the administration who are anxious to have the tax cut with no undue delay," Humphrey said Tuesday in Geneva.

Humphrey also said that the President is committed to tying reforms to a tax cut. Humphrey said that while he and some other leading members of Congress favor fewer reforms, considered separately, if they would stand in the way of a tax cut, this is not a split with the administration.

Indict Maryland's Speaker, 5 Others

. . . FOR MAIL FRAUD

Baltimore (UPI)—A federal grand jury Tuesday indicted A. Gordon Boone, speaker of the Maryland house of delegates, and 5 other men on mail fraud charges.

The charges stemmed from a Maryland savings and loan association operation. The 6 were charged with fraudulently misrepresenting the protection provided by the Security Financial Insurance Corp. as insurer of savings and loan accounts.

Boone announced after a conference with Gov. Millard Tawes in Annapolis that he was taking a leave of absence as speaker to devote "much of my energy" to preparation of a defense against what he called "these unfounded accusations." Boone said he would continue as a member of the House.

No Comment

A spokesman for Boone said he would have no comment on the indictment until after he had seen its specifications.

The maximum penalty for conviction under each of the 9 counts in the indictments is 5 years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Others indicted are:

Charles F. Culver. 58, of Catonsville, Md.. a former member of the Maryland house and president of security financial; J. Thomas Ellicott, 36, Towson, Md.; D. Spencer Grow, 55, Provo, Utah; C. Oran Mensik, 53, Chicago, and Henry McGurren, 50, a Chicago attorney.

The men were charged with fraudulently advertising that the insurance company strictly supervised financial practices of insured associations and required them to maintain high standards of financial responsibility.

The indictment said this indicated that insured associations were financially sound.

All 9 counts of the indictment related to mailing allegedly fraudulent promotional material.

Eno Vice-Presidency To McBride

John L. McBride, Hastings optometrist who brought suit against the firm and officials of Eno, Inc., charging mishandling of company stock, was elected executive vice president of the firm at annual meeting sessions Tuesday.

Dr. McBride had filed in behalf of himself and all other Eno, Inc., stockholders against the corporation and against Gordon M. Eno, Zellma Eno, Gene L. Eno, G. Robert Eno, and Melodee Ruth Eno, a minor.

The Hastings man had charged that firm members had unlawfully used funds and credits of the corporation "fraudulently for their own personal uses and means."

At a hearing before Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles Friday, Dr. McBride had asked the court to restrain the firm from holding its annual meeting and electing directors because "no one knows how many directors or what their terms of office are supposed to be . . . nor how much stock is outstanding in the corporation."

Judge Boyles denied the temporary injunction request Tuesday, paving the way for the annual meeting session, but enjoined any stock transactions until further court order.

In addition to his election as executive vice president, replacing Everton C. Johnston, Dr. McBride was elected a director of the firm, replacing Johnston.

Other directors elected Tuesday were Gene L. Eno and Clement C. Buhrman of Spalding, a new board member replacing Donald Classen.

Holdover board members are Gordon M. Eno, G. Robert Eno, Zellma A. Eno, all of Lincoln, and Tracy Osborne, Omaha.

Officers elected by the board are: Gordon M. Eno, president and chairman of the board; McBride; G. Robert Eno and Gene L. Eno, vice presidents, and Zellma Eno, secretary-treasurer.

5 Slain-- Boy Felt Left Out

Green Bay, Wis. (AP)— Five members of a Green Bay family were found shot to death in their West Side home Tuesday and the lone survivor, a 16-year-old high school boy, told Dist. Atty. Robert Warren he killed them because he "had a general feeling of being left out of the family circle."

The victims were Jack Hebard, 38-year-old North Central Air Line freight foreman and part-time stunt driver; his wife Joyce, 35; and her 3 children by a previous marriage — John Rudell, 15; and Judy and Janice, 11-year-old twins.

Harry Hebard, the dead man's son by an earlier marriage, was taken into custody about noon at a farm some 17 miles from Green Bay. Warren said that he had named the youth in a first degree murder warrant and would seek arraignment and a psychiatric examination "as soon as possible."

Two Green Bay detectives discovered the shambles early Tuesday when a friend and fellow-employe of Hebard's passed the house before dawn and saw that it was brightly lighted but there were no other signs of activity.

Hebard's body lay on a couch in the living room, in front of an operating television set. That of his wife and the 3 younger children were sprawled in the kitchen, where Monday's evening meal still smouldered on the stove. Each had been shot in the head and there was evidence of many additional shots being fired in the blood-drenched home, remodeled from a farm house for the family in a wooded area on the outskirts of the city.

The prosecution said that on the basis of a note found in Harry's locker at West High School, he believed the slayings had been planned for some time.

'Big Dam' Controversy Pops Up In Big Blue Basin Survey

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice — A comprehensive flood-control survey just starting in the Big Blue River basin has already run headlong into "big dam" controversy.

Some 200 persons attending a U.S. Corps of Engineers hearing —first step in a new area study — heard a long-discussed reservoir near Crete emerge as the key topic. Cast aside was one official's counsel that "any talk of location or size of structures would be premature at this time."

COL. ROLLINS . . . With map of Big Blue basin's 2.6 million acres.

Although no federal or state official singled out Crete or any other site for a dam, approximately a dozen landowners in that area protested when one such request did come forth. The Crete Sertoma Club called for a structure north of the city for flood control and recreational purposes.

Col. A. P. Rollins Jr., Kansas City district engineer, emphasized that the hearing was only the initial step in a study expected to continue into 1965. It was authorized two years ago by Congress as a reconsideration of over-all flood control problems along the Blue.

"Once we know what you want in flood control and other improvements, we can proceed to devise plans which we hope will be acceptable and economically feasible," the engineer said.

He also said that any local project other than reservoirs would require some financing by individual communities or sponsoring agencies. Easements and right-of-way must be acquired without federal cost, then maintained locally.

Among other Corps points:

—Besides taking a new view of previously authorized projects, the survey will consider water quality control, fish and wildlife conservation, recreation, and storage needs for domestic and industrial water supplies.

Second Look

—A 3.2-mile flood levee at Beatrice is among construction approved earlier which will get a second look in the light of economic feasibility.

—Funds of $15,000 already have been provided for the program, and $30,000 is requested for fiscal year 1964.

—The over-all study will be a cooperative effort of the Corps, Bureau of Reclamation and Soil Conservation Service.

Several individuals, including Mayor Fred Welsch of Milford, observed that conservation work in the 2.6-million-acre area already has eased flooding to some extent. One soil conservation official said 65% of the area's farmers already are utilizing conservation land practices.

Marion Ball, assistant director of the State Department of Water Resources, said negotiations of the Nebraska-Kansas compact would require a dam at some location.

"There is more than enough water to go around," he said, "but a regulated stream will require reservoir control."

Henry F. Klosterman of David City, chairman of the Big Blue Watershed Planning board, urged that irrigation be part of the investigation. Several government agencies pledged their cooperation in the study.

Rollins said the survey will take note of future effects of the giant Tuttle Creek Reservoir completed last year at Manhattan, Kan. It drains some 9,556 square miles of Big Blue River land.

Missile Plan Gets Cool Reception

McNAMARA GIVES TALK ON SAVINGS

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara got a cool reception Tuesday from some senators when he tried to win congressional support for plans to step up the shift from planes to missiles.

He said billions of dollars would be saved and the nation would be provided more promising defensive weapons than the scrapped Skybolt airborne missile project and the bottled-up RS70 jet aircraft production.

During a recess in McNamara's lengthy presentation to the Senate Armed Services Committee, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., emerged from the closed session to denounce the plan as "an invitation to disaster."

"I'm extremely apprehensive about putting all our eggs in one missile or nose cone basket," Goldwater, a reserve Air Force major general told newsmen.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., who presided part of the time at the hearing, told newsmen he is far from convinced by McNamara but he added "I'm still open to proof." He said "I don't think we have reached that stage yet" when all dependence can safely be put on missiles.

McNamara's 163-page statement on the $55-billion defense program President Kennedy submitted to Congress last month contained little that he hasn't said before. But the censored version made public contained a new plea for unity among the NATO nations, urged that America's European Allies take over a greater burden of their own defense and left the door open for a separate European nuclear force.

The defense chief also cautioned that the recent missile and bomber threat in Cuba "should not now distract our attention from the more fundamental and far-reaching challenge which communism poses to the free world." He listed the continuing pressures against Berlin, the undeclared war in South Viet Nam, the Chinese Red attack on India and communist efforts in Africa.

McNamara said "the Communist threat in Europe is the largest single threat we face in the world." The peril is greatest there, he said, "because Western Europe, aside from the United States, represents the most important center of free world power."

'Shared Time' Could Solve Aid Problems

Atlantic City, N.J. (AP) — A Connecticut educator said Tuesday the only way to stop the seemingly endless bickering over federal aid to education is a national program of "shared time" between public and parochial schools.

Theodore Powell of the Connecticut State Department of Education said shared time programs have been proved workable, do not violate separation of church and state, and have generally broad support.

He gave his views in a paper for the annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators.

Shared time is an arrangement of the school schedule which permits regularly enrolled pupils of a nonpublic school to take part of their education in a public school.

"For example," Powell said, "in Connecticut cities Catholic school pupils in the 7th and 8th grades attend a neighboring public school for a double period once a week to receive instruction in industrial arts (for the boys) or home economics (for the girls).

"This instruction is given in the public school classroom by a public school teacher. The Catholic school pupils become, in a sense, part time public school pupils for these courses."

Powell said President Kennedy's 24-point program of federal aid to education appears doomed becauee "the public school forces and the Catholic school forces will meet in direct conflict (on the issue of federal aid to parochial schools).

"There is every likelihood that this conflict will result in another stalemate; Congress will take no action on aid to education."

Powell said shared time programs had been working successfully in some parts of 20 states for as long as 20 years.

Although it has won favor by some officials of both Catholic and public schools, Powell said, the greatest obstacle to a national program of shared time is the National Education Association (NEA).

"The NEA has been very cool if not positively chilly in its attitude," he said.

He added that shared time means additional scheduling problems in the public schools. But, he said, "the disadvantages are not truly disadvantages. They are merely difficulties."

FLORIDA SLASHED BY WINDS

Miami (UPI) — Tornadoes and high winds slashed across central Florida Tuesday, killing a tourist whose car was plucked from a causeway and hurled 100 feet into Tampa Bay.

Tornadic winds bounced hop-scotch fashion through areas around Orlando, at Plant City, Lakeland, Lake Alfred, Lake Wales, Polk City and Indian River City, causing thousands of dollars damage.

Elsewhere in the south, a mixture of snow and rain hit sections of Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia, disrupting schools and traffic.

A bridge toll collector watched as "just one terrible gust of wind" picked up a small car from a causeway approach to the Sunshine Skyway Bridge and flipped it like a matchstick into Tampa Bay. It landed upside down.

Carl Bohman, 53, of Sheboygan, Wis., and his wife, Irene, 52, were trapped inside and Bohman was dead by the time rescuers could get inside. It was not determined if he died of a heart attack or drowned.

Mrs. Bohman managed to breath the air caught in a small space of the nearly submerged car. She was hospitalized in St. Petersburg.

Brazilians Take Over Freighter

Belem, Brazil (AP)—The hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui sailed slowly up the steaming Amazon River Tuesday night with a high seas drama of pirates and politics in her wake.

Diplomats wrangled over the fate of her pro-Communist captors ashore.

Brazilian marines were reported in command of the pirated vessel as she wended her way carefully among the maze of islands and channels in the Amazon's north delta.

A Brazilian official who flew over the scene said all seemed normal on the ship.

The pirates were disarmed without resistance, authorities said.

Brazil's Navy ministry said the freighter was being escorted to the port of Santana, near Macapa, on the north side of the delta, and will be turned over to Venezuelan authorities here.

The hijackers will be taken to Belem, on the delta's south side.

Two U.S. Navy destroyers were reported still on watch beyond Brazil's 3-mile territorial limit, but their ability to keep track of the Anzoategui was expected to diminish as the ship moved upriver.

"This is about the end of the story," said an official of the U.S. Defense Department in Washington.

Brazilian naval authorities reported the marines' takeover of the freighter without resistance. Once on Brazilian soil, the hijackers will be held incommunicado, authorities said.

A Brazilian admiral said her 9 pro-Communist hijackers would be interned at the navy base here but would be treated as guests with the privileges of political refugees until the foreign ministry decides their future.

MOTHER SETON

'Santa Bandit' Practiced Jolly Ho-Ho-Ho On Way

Montreal (UPI)—The prosecution's star witness testified Tuesday that "Santa Claus bandit" George Marcotte, accused of leading a $142,000 bank robbery in which two policemen were killed, rode to the scene in his red suit practicing jolly "ho-ho's."

The star witness is Jean-Paul Fournel, 39. He has admitted helping Marcotte and Jules Reeves, 29, in the Dec. 14 robbery and agreed to turn state's evidence in Marcotte's trial.

Constables Denis Brabant and Claude Marineau were shot to death with an automatic rifle during the robbery.

Fournel testified that Marcotte, 32, a carpenter, dressed up in the red Santa Claus suit sat in the back of the automobile roaring "ho-ho, ho-ho" during the drive to the suburban St. Laurent, Que., branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank Of Commerce.

Two Approved For Beatification

Vatican City (AP) — Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton, American founder of the Sisters of Charity, and John N. Neumann, 19th Century Philadelphia bishop, were approved for beatification Tuesday.

The action by the congregation of rites is a major step on the road to sainthood.

Mother Seton could become the first American-born saint. St. Francis Xavier Cabrini, Mother Cabrini, the only U.S. citizen who has become a Roman Catholic saint, was born in Italy. She was canonized in 1946.

Neumann

Mother Seton's beatification ceremony was set for March 17; Bishop Neumann's two days later.

Meeting with Pope John XXIII in the papal throne room, the cardinals, prelates and theologians of the congregation of rites formally approved two miracles proposed for each beatification.

After they are beatified, the two will merit the name "blessed." Mother Seton, a convert whose parents were Episcopalians, will be the first native American to receive the honor.

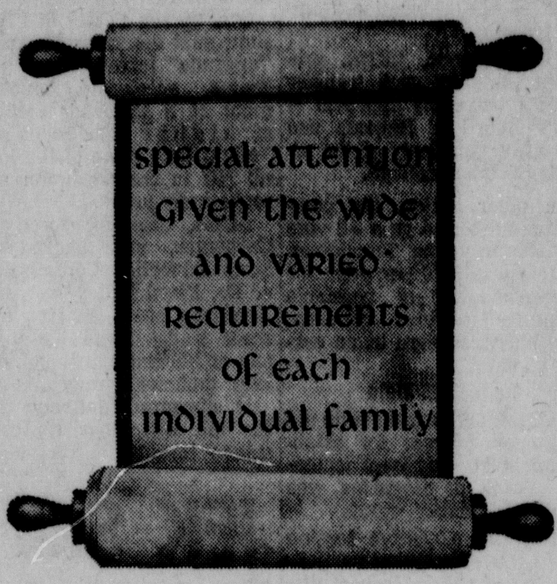

Two miraculous cures of ill or injured persons were attributed to the intervention of Mother Seton and Bishop Neumann. Two additional miracles must be approved for canonization or sainthood.

FREE CUBAN PRESS PANEL WILL RETURN

Freedom of the press in Cuba was just starting to decline at 9:12 p.m. Tuesday, and then it suddenly disappeared. Nevertheless it will return—at 9 p.m. March 5.

Tuesday night's loss had nothing to do with Dictator Fidel Castro, however; it was merely due to KUON-TV's transmitter going on the blink and off the air.

The hour-long "News and Views" panel on Cuba's free press demise—a discussion by University of Nebraska journalism professors William E. Hall and R. Neale Copple with Spanish Prof. Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo — will be aired again two weeks from Tuesday on Channel 12, the program's producer pledged.

Wheat Needs Cover

Coming Out Of Dormant Stage

Government crop observers reported Tuesday Nebraska's winter wheat crop appears to be in good condition, although it could use some rain or snow cover.

The crop is coming out of the dormant stage in some areas and is showing signs of growth, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

A few fields in western Nebraska are beginning to green, and fall sown rye and barley also have responded to the recent warmer weather. weather.

Other crop report observations:

More cattle are returning to pastures and ranges, easing the drain on supplemental feed. Current stacks of grain and hay are adequate to meet normal needs until spring grass becomes available.

Production gains of livestock have returned to a satisfactory seasonal level and newborn animals are reported doing well.

Shipments of stocker and feeder cattle into Nebraska during January totaled 70,000 head compared with 79,000 a year ago.

Inshipments during the 6 months ending with January totaled 901,000 head, up 20% from the same period a year earlier.

Deputy Pay Bill Sent To Morrison

The Nebraska Legislature Tuesday passed and sent to the governor for signature a bill stating that the provision of law granting a deupty county officer a salary equal to 75% of his superior's salary shall apply to chief deputies only.

The original 1961 act applied to all deputies with the result healthy pay hikes occurred to a number of deputies in ofifces such as the Douglas and Lancaster County sheriff's offices where several deputies are employed.

The bill restricting the salary provision to chief deputies was introduced as LB38 by Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, and was passed 38-0 on final reading with the emergency clause attached, making it effective when the governor signs it.

'As Intended'

Lancaster County Commissioners Ralph Harlan and William Grossman commented that passage of LB38 as amended sets the salaries for deputies as it "was originally intended."

They said that the board would be meeting with Sheriff Merle Karnopp within the next few days to work on a salary schedule for Lancaster County deputy sheriffs.

All deputy sheriffs questioned about the bill's passage replied, "No comment."

Other bills passed on final reading Tuesday:

LB133 (Judiciary Committee)—Harmonizing provisions of law relating to agriculture.

LB134 (Judiciary Committee)—Eliminating an unconstitutional provision in law setting penalties for attorneys guilty of deceit or collusion.

LB135 (Judiciary Committee)—Harmonizing provisions of banking laws.

Kreuscher Named Chairman Farm Safety Council

A Lincoln newsman was named chairman of the Nebraska Farm Safety Council at the group's annual meeting on the College of Agriculture Campus Tuesday.

Glenn Kreuscher, farm editor of The Lincoln Star and Lincoln Journal, succeeds Mrs. Sue Smith, home editor of the Nebraska Farmer. Other officers, both re-elected, are Ted Dappen, State Health Department, vice chairman; and Rollin D. Schnieder, Extension farm safety specialist at the University of Nebraska, secretary.

Curtis Named To Space Committee

Washington (AP) —Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., took a vacancy on the Senate Space Committee Tuesday.

A second vacancy on the same committee went to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y.

The assignments were among those made as the conference of all Republican senators approved recommendations of the party's Committee on Committees.

Columbus Paper Wins Citation

Chicago (AP)—The Columbus (Neb.) Telegram won honorable mention Tuesday from the Inland Daily Press Association for its typography and printing.

The Nebraska paper is in a class of papers printed on rotary presses and under 10,000 circulation.

Dana Official Criticizes JFK Tax Program

Washington (AP) — The administration's tax program was criticized Tuesday by a Nebraska college official.

Boas Weismann, director of fund raising for Dana College, Blair, said as it now stands the proposal would "seriously affect individual contributions to colleges and churches."

Weismann, speaking at the weekly Nebraska congressional delegation breakfast, referred to one section of the program which would provide that deductions for tax purposes could be taken only on that amount above 5% of an individual's gross income.

"Eventually, it would drive church-related colleges to the federal government for support," he said.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., expressed doubt that Congress would enact a tax bill this year.

In another development, Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., has been assigned to the communications and power subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee.

Adele Addison's Artistry Draws Capactiy Crowd

By RUTH ARDIS

Adele Addison was the magic attraction that drew a capacity crowd to the Stuart Theater Tuesday evening when she appeared with the Lincoln Symphony. The prolonged applause at the close of her performance was a sincere tribute to her artistry. She is indeed one of the greatest lyric sopranos on the concert stage today.

Miss Addison's interpretation of the Mozart Motet "Exsultate Jubilate" was stylistically beautiful. Her voice was clear and fresh and particularly lovely on the well-known Alleluia.

In contrast to the classical Mozart, the arias from Puccini's "La Boheme" and Charpentier's "Louise" were sung with moving intensity and undeniable romanticism. The rapturous flow of the music—both in the impassioned climaxes and in the touching soft passages—was conveyed with excellent control.

The orchestra provided a discreet accompaniment. There was good ensemble throughout—good tempi, and in general, fine playing.

Conductor Leo Kopp had selected a very interesting program which was well played. Beethoven's Symphony No. 8 in F Major was the major orchestral work of the evening. The string section was particularly impressive.

Other works included the perennial favorite "Overture to Die Fledermaus" by Johann Strass Jr. and Dvorak's "Scherzo Capriccioso." The varying Slavic moods of the latter were performed tastefully. Top honors go to the brasses and woodwinds in this number.

It was announced that the Lincoln Youth Symphony will share the spotlight with the Lincoln Symphony at the March 5 concert at Pershing Municipal Auditorium. This will be the first time that the two groups will perform on the same program. The Lincoln Youth Symphony, conducted by Eugene Stoll, will present a 20-minute concert preceding the "Lerner and Loewe" program to be presented by the Lincoln Symphony and a chorus of 75 voices.

Hard Detergents' Foam No 'Hazard'

Foam on water caused by hard detergents is not a health hazard, according to .State Health Director E. A. Rogers.

It is merely a nuisance, Dr. Rogers said.

A bill pending in the Legislature, LB568, would place a 10 cents per pound charge on hard detergents sold.

Under the measure, the first $100,000 of revenue would go to the University of Nebraska Conservation and Survey Division, the next $100,000 to the State Agriculture Department and the remainder to the general fund.

Rogers said the foam from detergents would not be harmful even if 100 times the amount now found on surface or underground water.

LINCOLN DID NOT ORIGINATE THE PHRASE "OF THE PEOPLE, BY THE PEOPLE, FOR THE PEOPLE".

Theo. Parker in his address before the Anti-Slavery Society on May 13, 1854, used the phrase, "Of all the people, by all the people, for all the people." Later he condensed the phrase to the form in which it is now known and in which Lincoln used it. Daniel Webster, in 1830, used a similar phrase, "The people's government, made for the people, made by the people, and answerable to the people."

Government By The People

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When President Abraham Lincoln spoke of government "by the people" he was not referring to anarchy. He did not mean that the people themselves actually constitute the government, but rather, that they create it and that it is kept answerable to them. If the theory is stretched too far, the only thing we do is destroy government and deny it the opportunity to perform those services for the people that are expected of it.

A number of issues are found in the current Legislature where the emphasis is on placing more authority and responsibility in the hands of the people or at least, closer to the people.

Eminent Domain At Issue

One such issue is the proposal to require legislative approval in the exercise of eminent domain when it involves the acquisition of 3,500 acres or more. The measure appears to be aimed especially at reclamation projects where large areas would be acquired for construction of reservoirs in flood control and irrigation projects. Its introducer is Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City who spoke of restoring government to "a position of responsibility in land acquisition."

Another measure in the Legislature would give the State Game Commission authority to use eminent domain under certain limited circumstances and on specific projects. This measure has drawn considerable opposition and may well find difficulty in mustering majority support.

Several other measures in the Legislature deal with the zoning authority of the city of Lincoln, seeking to cut back this authority and thereby leave more freedom for individual property owners. In some respects all of these measures may have merit and there is no question that certain theories can be cited in their support.

But if the Legislature looks favorably upon these and other measures of a similar nature, it will be adding to the problems of government. It will actually be denying the people many of the public services that they have come to expect from government and come to rely upon. Eminent domain, for instance, is often an unpopular procedure but so are many other things of government. Paying taxes is not most people's cup of tea, nor is stopping at red lights, obtaining license plates, etc. The right of eminent domain is one that is as old as this nation itself and found, even, in civilizations much older than ours. The question is not how popular it is at the moment it is being applied but how important it is to all the people of a state and nation.

If we are going to restore government to a position of responsibility, we have some obligation to show where it has been irresponsible. People whose property has been condemned for highways, recreation, reclamation, etc., may have some objection to the compensation they were paid but just how valid is this objection? In the vast majority of cases, there is little argument between government and the private land owners. The two come to a peaceful agreement and everyone feels he has been treated fairly. There are always some who will object—a few with real conviction and a few who simply want to take the government for all they can. Experience has shown there to be more of the latter than the former.

Many public improvements such as paving, street lights, sewers, etc., are made with considerable objection but this does not destroy their need or effectiveness. Without effective powers of eminent domain, the state would be needlessly delayed if not completely stopped in the fulfillment of its responsibilities.

Ours is a government that runs under the rule of the majority. Without eminent domain, it would be a government run by the minority. In fact, one single person could hamstring a development with which all other people were in accord. The Legislature does not propose to completely eliminate eminent domain in all cases but it does propose to severely curtail the practice.

No Evidence Of Abuse

In the case of the Game Commission and state parks, it has completely eliminated eminent domain and may well refuse to restore it even on a highly limited basis. And all of this comes about without any clearcut explanation as to its need. If the practice had been badly abused in the past, it would be one thing but there is no evidence that such has been the case. And with the courts as the final authority in such matters, it is difficult to see how the practice could be abused. These legislative proposals again demonstrate a poor concept and understanding of government.

Sometimes the Legislature seems to be more an enemy of government than an arm of government which it is supposed to be. Government is not evil per se but is the means by which people do collectively those things which they cannot do by themselves. Government can fail as easily through inaction as it can through excessive use of its authority. A government that can and does do nothing is just about as bad as one that is too dictatorial.

(Long in the Minneapolis Tribune)

The Ugly Duckling

Signs Of Controversy

This week's public meeting at Beatrice coming as the initial step in a comprehensive flood control survey of the Big Blue River watershed gave evidence that long standing differences of opinion, latent some of the time, will flare anew.

The main trend to be derived was that the considerable body of opinion in favor of the status quo has diminished. The conservation minded have increased. But among them are the old divisions — the small dam people, the large reservoir forces and those who prefer the "hilltop" approach, that is, intensive upland conservation calculated to stop flooding at the source rather than at the river. It is unfortunate since these convictions represent old gospels attached to an earlier day, a time when water use, conservation and flood control were subject to partial understanding.

Needed is the conception that water is a resource rather than a nuisance or a problem. Its conservation is a half measure if it does not serve the maximum uses so balanced that nothing fails of need or usefulness. It would be less than prudent to downgrade recreation, irrigation, soil protection and flood control. These all build the economy. They spell diversification, economic development and greater productive efficiency.

It will be wholesome if the valley people ventilate all their interests for the purpose of achieving the best of all programs. But it will be constructive to do so without acrimony lest a balkanization of interests results in general failure. The watershed has delayed its development too long already.

A New State Department

Gov. Frank Morrison is to be congratulated for his efforts in attempting to stimulate the economic growth of the state through a new Department of Economic Development. There is much to be said for the program which would expand the operations of the Resources Division and give new status to the promotion of tourism. Certainly, the state's economic future needs the careful attention of all people, especially the governor and the Legislature.

If there is any point of argument with the governor, it is over the matter of priorities. The framework within which he seeks to accomplish his goals is commendable but where will the foundation—the money—come from? We are aware that the governor has recommended an increase in a number of excise taxes and has called for a slight increase in the property tax.

It is granted that he has proceeded with conviction but the wisdom of his approach is questionable. Many people are equally convinced that the state cannot forge ahead with its existing tax structure and this has been the obvious conclusion from just about every unbiased study that has been made of public finances in this state. And the Legislature has far from decided that it would even go along with the governor on the stop-gap revenue plans he has proposed.

There isn't any question that the Legislature is going to have to decide the revenue question before it can give meaningful consideration to any new department of state government. Unless our approach to the tax question is changed, we have little choice but to continue with the existing structure of state government. There is not an administrator in this nation who can do something with nothing.

Back For New Try

Supporters of the National Wilderness Preservation Bill, who scored a near miss in the last session of Congress, will make a new try this time. Hearings on a new bill will commence February 28 before the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs committee.

Two years ago the wilderness measure passed the Senate decisively, but failed to carry the House.

The return engagement finds little change in the original bill, but its sponsors feel better prepared to answer the criticisms of the opposing congressmen. It would set aside vast areas at the discretion of the President, acting with the advice of the Departments of Interior and Agriculture. The purpose would be to preserve portions of the country in its original state or to return other portions to that state, assuring future America of its historical connection with the past. It would also serve as a warehouse for natural resources, not needed now, but possibly vital to future generations.

Some of the opposition stems from congressional concern over the welfare of mining and lumbering interests already working in some of the regions. Other opposition believes the new reservations should be approved singly by Congress. The former objection has been countered by provision to protect the mining and lumbering interests for a reasonable time. As to the latter, it is evident that a piecemeal approach would develop into a matter of accepting the principle of wilderness preservation, but postponing the actual realization of it for a long time if not indefinitely.

Such opposition seems to be reasonably cancelled by the bill's provision for review every 10 years and the presidential privilege of restoring needed land to use when need is established.

Disposal Plant Debate Closed

WASHINGTON—The battle of sewage disposal opposite the home of the father of our country will come up for secret debate tomorrow (Feb. 21) in a closed-door session of a House Appropriations subcommittee.

For some time Rep. Mike Kirwan, the Youngstown, Ohio, Democrat, has been pulling for a sewage disposal plant on the Maryland side of the Potomac River opposite Mt. Vernon. Congresswoman Frances Bolton, also from Ohio, but a Republican, has been pulling against him. She wants to keep the banks of the Potomac opposite Mt. Vernon clear of ugly buildings, smoke stacks, etc., and with her own money purchased 144 acres of land directly opposite Mt. Vernon to foil her Democratic colleague from Youngstown.

However, Kirwan and the Washington Suburban Sanitation Commission now want to move a bit further down the river, to Mockley Point, which still will interfere with the beautiful vista which George Washington had of the river when he located his famous mansion at Mt. Vernon.

Actually, Congress last year had voted to set aside 1,186 acres of the Maryland shoreline for public use. But Kirwan, who is chairman of the subcommittee voting funds for parks, promptly squelched the money to carry it out. It was at this point that Mrs. Bolton stepped in with her land purchase.

Meanwhile certain real estate developers are hot to build a housing development on the land that's left and use the sewage system which Kirwan wants at Mockley Point. For some reason they seem to have a lot of influence with the congressman from Youngstown. He, incidentally, raises the money for the re-election of Democratic Congressmen and collects that money from all sorts of people.

Kirwan is a congressman who got $10,000,000 voted last year for an aquarium—according to Sen. Wayne Morse a "fish hotel" for the District of Columbia. But Kirwan does not seem to favor equal beauty outside of the water.

Tomorrow, he will meet with his subcommittee to decide the fate of the beautiful vista opposite Mt. Vernon. The meeting will not be open to those most interested in preservation of the Potomac—the public.

GOP Pensive Over California Switch

LOS ANGELES—The effort to rebuild the California Republican party along moderate lines suffered a severe setback last weekend when militant conservatives took control of the Young Republicans.

Scorning compromise and ignoring public pleas by their seniors, they elected a new state president, an attorney strongly backed by leaders of the John Birch Society. In all, their well-organized forces named nine of 11 statewide officers and are in a position to press their views on the national YR convention next weekend of the Volunteer Republican Assembly which figured so prominently in the rapid rise of Richard Nixon. Assembly President Fred Hall predicted that "they will be right at our throats" and said the assembly included a substantial number of Birchers.

This is bad news for eastern seaboard Republicans and their presidential candidate, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. These forces will find it even more difficult to build a state campaign organization here.

In many ways the situation is reminiscent of the years when Democrats were handicapped by their extreme left-wing influences and their presidents almost feared to come into the state. Democrats now welcome the Birch issue and believe that President Kennedy and Senator Clair Engle are strengthened for the 1964 election.

Republicans could suffer in another way. The Birchers are justly famous for their lack of restraint in discussing political leaders who disagree with them, as former President Eisenhower found out. The party will not be helped in its use of the Cuban issue if Birchers who are at the same time elected Republican spokesmen get strongly into the act.

☆ ☆ ☆

Apparently this dawned on Republican State Chairman Caspar Weinberger and his Lincoln week guest, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, newly elected chairman of the House Republican caucus. Both appeared at the YR fracas to warn that the election of a Birch candidate would be harmful to the party and fodder for the Democrats.

Rep. Ford told candidly the rueful tale of how Democrats long ruled Michigan while Republicans there squabbled, a situation finally reversed by the choice of George Romney as governor.

But they were too little and too late. They had neglected the elemental precaution of counting noses to determine whether the battle was already lost or won before they spoke out. Thus they only helped to dramatize the upset.

Observers say that the deciding element was the well-financed, well-disciplined drive of Birch forces led by former Rep. John Rousselot, avowed member of the Birch society. Rousselot was defeated for re-election last fall.

One experienced Republican, scarred in many such fights, contends that it is impossible to deal with the Birchers on any rational basis. He sees no alternative but an attempt to drive them out of the party. He finds it hard to believe that young people are genuinely attracted to their tenets, but admits to being shaken by events here.

MARQUIS CHILDS

U.S. Reappraising De Gaulle

WASHINGTON — In the agonizing reappraisal of the administration's European policy—it is hardly less than that—going on in closed-door meetings in the White House and State Department is a new, sober search for the hard core of reality.

The object of the stern new scrutiny is, above all, President de Gaulle of France. In the immediate aftermath of the disaster in Brussels last month, when De Gaulle vetoed the entry of Britain into the Common Market, the cries of rage and pain were so loud that they were barely muffled by security.

All sorts of reprisals were considered from a presidential blast aimed directly at Paris to a reorganization of NATO providing far less dependence on the geography of France. Like the letters Lincoln is said to have written in the first heat of anger and frustration at some setback and then destroyed in calmer second thought, these proposals were shelved.

To balance the score a deliberate and reasoned effort to make a case for De Gaulle is being undertaken. To paint him as a calculating villain, a neurotic with a Napoleonic complex, is not only a grave distortion but, as is now being realized, such a distortion imperils the whole structure of the Western Alliance and the cornerstone of American policy.

The case for De Gaulle rests on several points. First and foremost is the growing belief that he is acting not in solitary splendor but with the backing of a considerable opinion in France and, more important, in the rest of Europe. His defy, interpreted as a refusal to be a tail to the American kite, is believed to have more support than is articulated in either the European press or in the statements of public men.

Second is the uncanny record De Gaulle has for having been right or, at any rate, for being able to gloss his actions with the appearance of rightness. It begins with his stand as a military man against the defensive, Maginot line psychology of the French generals in the years leading up to World War II. While some have disputed the priority of his claim to championing mobile warfare, in the pattern adopted by the Germans in their sweep of Europe, his admirers can produce documentation.

With his escape to England at the time of the French defeat in 1940 he set out to sustain the honor—in a sense the soul—of France. It was a stubborn, painful, prideful effort that won him as many enemies among the powerful—Roosevelt and Churchill being pre-eminent—as friends. Against great odds he held the leaders of the Free French forces that were at the very least a symbol of resistance to the Nazi tyranny and at best an important factor in undermining German grip on France.

After his failure to reconcile the bitterly divided factions of post-liberation Paris he departed for his country retreat at Colombey Les Deux Eglises. There he stayed in solitude for nearly 12 years, spending much of his time writing the three volumes of his memoirs that move with such a majestic and stately pace through the events of his life.

In May of 1958 virtually all elements in French life, including some of his harshest critics of today, pleaded with him to come back and head the government. I was in Paris reporting on those critical days, and on May 29 it seemed quite evident that, unless he agreed, the paratroopers would come from Algeria and France would be plunged ultimately into civil war.

He is president with far-reaching powers. As extremist elements in the Army bitterly recall, he promised to keep Algeria as part of France. Eventually he succeeded in ending the hopeless war to hold that colony and Algeria became independent, thereby stopping a drain costly in money and blood.

It was De Gaulle, when he formed his first government at the war's end, who gave Jean Monnet, "The Father Of Europe," his initial opportunity to form a planning commission guiding the French economy. Monnet, who has always spoken warmly of his cooperation with De Gaulle, pushed the plan for the European Coal and Steel Community and the other steps toward unity. To these efforts France, particularly, and the other five European powers in the community owe something for their prosperity.

Cost Of Smoking

Central City, Neb.

LB 368 proposes that cigarettes be labeled with a warning that their use will endanger human health.

Why not?

The facts are well established by medical science. Smokers have more lung and throat cancer than non-smokers. The incidence of certain kinds of heart trouble is higher among smokers.

Athletic coaches have long recognized that smoking reduces the endurance of athletes, so have prohibited smoking as part of their training.

So long as we continue to smoke, let us be reminded that the cost is more than dollars and cents.

Sunday Opening

Lincoln, Neb.

It is with extreme displeasure that I am noting the policy of certain Lincoln grocers of beginning to do business on Sunday. In this present time of many available preserved foods, it seems highly unlikely that any thinking homemaker cannot make sufficient provision for groceries to last her family from Saturday to Monday. I can think of no food item that is likely to be needed on such an emergency basis that there is any need for grocers to operate seven days a week.

I certainly believe that this step is unfair to employes of these stores and their families, the community, and the churches these people would otherwise attend. It can add nothing to the moral and spiritual betterment of the community.

In a democracy, the most effective method of telling a businessman that one does not like his policy is to transfer one's business elsewhere—with an explanation to the officials of the company why this action is being made. Our family is taking this step and we would like to encourage others who are similarly displeased to do likewise. It is my sincere hope that Lincoln church members will act to make this change unprofitable for the companies involved and reward those who have taken a stand against doing business on Sunday.

MRS. LEE REED

I, as an employe of Safeway and happy with my job, am tired of reading and hearing about all this boycott and "don't trade at Safeway." Why don't people take their problems to their state and city lawmakers? They should get a law that says no one in business can be open more than 6 days in any week, not saying what day they must be closed. After all, we do have freedom of religion in our country yet.

As far as Safeway's being open on Sunday, they have had a number of calls from students and others who would like to make a little money on Sunday. Has anyone ever made a survey to see how many employes attend church? Not that they shouldn't, but do they?

And why pick on Safeway? What about all the hotels and restaurants that serve food on Sunday? How many days are they open? They have people who work every Sunday. We work only five days a week. I'm sure no one will see us working every Sunday, nor will we be worrying about losing our jobs.

Complaints should be taken to the lawmakers.

Urges Boycott

Lincoln, Neb.

I read with extreme disbelief and great apprehension the intention of the Safeway Stores to open all their stores on Sunday because of competition. It appears that such action is somewhat premature, as there is legislative action pending in LB710 and, if not passed, local action by concerned groups.

I want to register my strong protest against such action and hope that the action will be reconsidered. The ministers of Lincoln, along with concerned businessmen, have been trying to understand the situation and provide concrete opposition to this action and subsequent action by other businesses. I think we understand competition and know of what it has brought to the American people. I think we understand "unfair" competition and how it affects business. I believe we are becoming more united on the area of a six-day week rather than a "Sunday closing law" as such, which would be unfair to those people with religious convictions not in agreement on Sunday as a day of worship. But we are opposed to the Safeway's action.

We are going to register our opposition by asking members of our congregations to refrain from purchasing at any time, not just on Sunday, from a business that does not observe a six-day week and-or Sunday closing. We hope and anticipate that this may show a loss of volume which will be felt by the Safeway, as this seems to be its exclusive consideration for a successful business.

Firm Foundation

Lincoln, Neb.

The word "freedom" is being misused and overworked almost to the point of license. Like many words, the true meaning has been lost and doesn't convey the truth.

How long has it been since the expression of a freeman (owner of the rights in fee simple of land) has been used extensively? Yet the possession of rights in land (fee simple title) is the very essence of freedom. Such rights guarantee freedom of speech, bargaining power for your labors, your own home in which to raise a family, open and peaceable possession, etc.

The rights in land are God-given rights and never were meant to be sold. The rights in land are being hewed away until, as Thomas Jefferson said, "the people will wake up homeless in the land their fathers conquered."

Land is the firm foundation on which all rights rise or fall and are granted by the Creator and Supreme Ruler of the universe.

Hossack Tells Budget Committee Of Problems In Hiring Engineers

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The problems of employing and retaining competent engineers for the State Highway Department received a thorough airing Tuesday as State Engineer John Hossack presented the department's 1963-65 budget request to the Budget Committee.

The department has asked for an appropriation of approximately $150 million for the coming biennium, one half of which would come from federal highway funds, and the other half from licenses, fees and cash funds.

No property tax-supported general fund money is included in the department's regular operations. Its only general fund appropriation goes to the Nebraska Safety Patrol which is to be considered separately Thursday.

5% Increase

Hossack told the committee he has proposed salary scales for the next biennium for department personnel which will provide an average increase of about 5% — some will be higher than this, others lower.

Noting the higher salaries offered by some states, federal agencies and private industry for engineers, Hossack said the department not only has a rough time recruiting engineers from colleges, but suffers from a large turnover.

Many engineers leave for higher salaries elsewhere after gaining experience with the Highway Department, just when they are becoming valuable, he said.

The department expects to add a total of 315 persons to its staff by the close of the coming biennium to meet its increasing workload.

This includes approximately 40 engineers and engineer aides in the Design Division to help the department meet its goal of having plans prepared far enough in advance to allow the purchase of right-of-way one year ahead of construction.

Needs More

The department has about 6 to 8 months' lead time on design, but needs more personnel there and in the right-of-way division to achieve its goal, he said.

Hossack also discussed the department's plans to construct an office building south of Lincoln which will cost an estimated $1.8 million.

The department now occupies about one-half of the first floor of the Capitol, and rents additional space elsewhere. Construction of the proposed building could help alleviate space problems in the Capitol, he noted.

Following the Highway Department presentation, the committee met with a group of persons interested in the Indian law enforcement program which is part of the governor's budget.

Norman Otto, administrative assistant to the governor, Thurston County Sheriff Harold Obermeyer, Thurston County Attorney Ron Samuelson, and W. Earl Dyer Jr., executive editor of The Star and member of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Indian Affairs, discussed the need for continuing the program on law enforcement authorized in 1961.

A total of $40,000 has been requested to continue the services of special deputies at Thurston and Sheridan Counties. The group reported the program has been effective, and needs to be continued until development programs for the area have been fully realized.

Revenue Body Kills Lower Jet Fuel Tax

The Revenue Committee Tuesday killed 4-1 a bill seeking to decrease from 2½ to 1½ cents the amount of the jet fuel tax retained by the state for the operation of the Aeronautics Department.

The bill, LB167 while widely supported by the major airlines, ran into stiff opposition from state and local airport officials.

Sen. William Moulton of Omaha, bill introducer, offered an amendment seeking to reduce by one cent all aviation fuel taxes retained by the state. It was not voted on.

One of 18

Moulton said Nebraska is one of 18 states that levies fuel tax on airlines and as a result, a major portion of fuel used by major air carriers is being purchased outside the state.

Moulton said the fuel tax has burgeoned the Aeronautics Department's income threefold in the last 8 years, but that a comparable amount is not being returned for airport improvements.

The Omaha lawmaker's contentions were supported by representatives from United, Braniff and Ozark airlines.

Sandstedt Spearhead

Spearheading the drive to get the bill killed was James Sandstedt, state Aeronautics director.

He said 62% of his department's income was dependent on aviation fuel taxes.

Of this total, Sandstedt said, 78% of the tax money is plowed back into local airport development projects.

"Thus," Sandstedt said, "the air carriers are directly benefiting by the tax."

Sandstedt discounted the assertion that by reducing the tax, more fuel would be purchased in Nebraska.

"Our figures show that the amount of fuel consumed in Nebraska has not changed radically since enactment of the fuel tax," he said.

'Affect Progress'

William Latta, manager of the Hastings municipal airport, said the bill would "seriously affect aviation progress being made in Nebraska."

W. W. Cook, Beatrice mayor and former aeronautics commissioner, reiterated that the tax was making money for major airlines doing business in Nebraska.

"We are getting them more business by providing better facilities," he said.

In other action, the committee unanimously advanced LB389 and LB442.

The first seeks to raise from 50 cents to $1.50 the filing fee for certified copies of instruments. The other would remove the regulation that a $1 application fee be paid annually in order that a farmer receive a gas tax refund permit. The bill would provide for permanent permits.

No Opposition To State Engineer's, Judges' Pay Hike

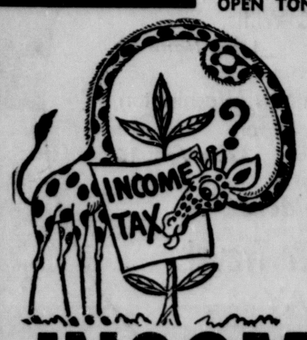

Measures to raise the salaries of the state engineer and county judges were heard without opposition by the Salaries and Claims Committee Tuesday.

All 4, however, were held by the committee to be considered together with other salary bills. The measures are LB480, to raise the salary of the state engineer from $13,500 to $18,000 a year, and LB293, LB503 and LB702, all to increase salaries of county judges.

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha, Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte, former State Engineer L. N. Ress of Omaha and former Gov. Robert Crosby spoke in favor of LB480.

A number of county judges testified in behalf of the other salary bills, which are expected to be combined into one measure.

Reds Build Up Opinion Against Iraq

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet Bloc campaigned Tuesday in an effort to build up world opinion against the anti-Communist drive in Iraq, which it calls bloody repression.

The killings and arrests of Iraqi Reds by the Iraqi revolutionary government, which the Russians recognized quickly after the fall of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem 10 days ago, were widely denounced.

The Soviet Red Cross telegraphed the International Red Cross Committee an appeal that it "use its prestige and authority to stop the blood bath."

Not Clear

A Geneva spokesman for the all-Swiss committee said, however, it was not clear what action could be taken. The committee has had no representative in Iraq since the early days of Kassem's 4½-year dictatorship, which ended in his death Feb. 9 at the hands of his revolutionary captors.

The Soviet Peace Committee, in a protest whose signers included composer Dmitri Shostakovich and writer Ilya Ehrenburg, demanded an immediate end to the "bloody terror" and release of the imprisoned Communists.

Students of the Patrice Lumumba (Friendship) University, who are assembled in Moscow from Asia, Africa and Latin America, staged a protest meeting in a hall strung with banners whose messages included "no to Fascism in Iraq."

Protests

They sent telegrams to the United Nations, the International League for Human Rights and to Iraq's new president, Abdel Salam Mohammed Aref, protesting against what they called "the mass murders of Communists and other democrats, the fighters against imperialism and reaction."

The Soviet news agency Tass distributed a flood of dispatches from home and abroad about protests from various committees, student groups and communist party organizations. Datelines included Moscow, Sofia, Budapest, East Berlin and Jakarta.

Takes Police 35 Minutes To Stop Woman Traffic Violator

Dallas (UPI) — Patrolman J. W. Tigert shook his head and said. "It was a chase and yet it wasn't a chase, if you know what I mean."

Tigert and his partner W. H. Smith had just learned the hard way how to curb a woman driver who doesn't want to be stopped.

They were almost at their wits end before they found the solution.

The episode happened early Tuesday when they spied Kathleeen McKay, 49, of Ennis, Tex., whizzing the wrong way around a traffic circle.

Ignores Them

It ended 35 frustrating minutes later after the woman ignored their horn, flashing red lights and a blast on the siren.

"We tried a little bit of everything from getting in front of her to trying to make her stop to pulling up alongside and motioning her over to the curb," Tigert said.

"She didn't pay any attention to us," Tigert added.

The officers sent out a call for help. Deputy Sheriff Eugene Boone got into the act. His presence did not faze the woman.

Keeps Driving

She just stared ahead and kept driving.

The officers tried to use their cars to box her in. They tried their sirens and red lights again. The woman drove on.

A 3rd police car got into the act, but 3 cars could not make her stop.

Runs Beside

Once she slowed to 10 miles an hour and Tigert leaped out and ran alongside her car, yelling for her to stop.

She stared straight ahead and kept driving.

Finally she crashed into two of the police cars. The officers reached in and grabbed her ignition key.

"Go ahead and shoot me and get it over with," she screamed, breaking her long silence.

She was taken to city jail and booked for drunk driving, running 5 traffic lights, running one stop sign, driving the wrong way on a one-way street, negligent collison, racing with an emergency vehicle, and speeding.

Worker Killed In Collapse Of Coal Conveyor In Pa.

Scranton, Pa. (AP)—One man was crushed to death and 6 others narrowly escaped a similar fate Tuesday when a coal conveyor collapsed at the Glen Alden Corp.'s Marvine colliery.

The conveyor and its housing dropped more than 100 tons of twisted steel and iron on and near a crew working in and around a run-of-the-mine coal dumping pit.

Three of the victims were trapped in the wreckage and rescuers had to use acetylene torches to reach them.

The dead man was identified as John Mishko, 46, of Dickson City.

William White, about 40, of Justus, who was working inside the conveyor line repairing a leak at the time of the collapse, was trapped inside the twisted wreckage and was not located until almost an hour later.

The State of Nevada, seventh in size and smallest in population, is still Cupid's playground.

Though Reno and Las Vegas divorced 8850 persons from their mates, the wedding bells rang for 55,666 — a 7-to-1 play which any gambler will tell you is excellent odds.

☆ ☆ ☆

Said Walter Ramage, the Reno innkeeper of the marrying Mapes Hotel:

"Our marriages this last year ran 22,862. The divorces were 4,431.

"Naturally, we encourage this business as much as we can. Divorcees usually stay out at the guest ranches while they run up their 6 weeks residence.

"But the honeymooners," said Walter with an emotional sigh, "stay with us."

☆ ☆ ☆

In the line of encouragement, Ramage has worked out a package deal on matrimony that leaves very little for the happy couple to do.

"All you have to do," said Walter, "is bring your partner in wedlock. We do all the rest—or practically all."

For a modest $75, Mr. Ramage hustles up the license, the marrying judge and a pair of witnesses.

"I often witness it myself," he said, "for there is nothing happier than a happy bride and groom. Especially in our hotel. I'm very sentimental."

The happy couple are then set down to a champagne dinner and trundled off to a flowery bridal suite.

According to Mr. Ramage, few happy couples can quit holding hands long enough to hold the dice which are the heart and soul of Reno hotels.

"But when the honeymoon is over, they return," he said. "There is nothing like memories of marriage to make a man reach for the dice. It's a kind of 'shoot the works' psychology."

Of the ladies who come here for the 6-week divorce, many land at the tables. But as paid shill

A shill is a person who plays with house money. Simply to keep the table going.

There is nothing hidden about it. It is not advertised. But the shill is easily recognized.

"They bet only a silver dollar at a time," said Mr. Ramage. "And of course, a shill is never allowed to carry a handbag. Some people would be tempted to let a dollar or two fall into it."

☆ ☆ ☆

Reno is one of the last users of the silver dollar. (Even Las Vegas is using chips for the most part.)

"Though we HAVE chips for $5 and $10 and bigger bets," said Walter. "But this is the land of the silver dollar. A big, fat, substantial coin that clinks when you drop it on a bar. It LOOKS like money should look.

"Why the silver kings of the Comstock Lode would whirl in their graves if we didn't have silver dollars."

Reno gets a more Western gambler than the flashy city of the south. Desert Las Vegas has now grown to 80,000 people while Reno, at 63,000, grows steadily but with other business as important as gambling.

There are as many local cowboys as visitors at the the Reno tables. More 10-gallon hats than mink coats. More jeans than Capri pants.

"Las Vegas DID have 10,000 more weddings than we did," said Walter. "But then it's a pure gambling town. And you have to admit that marriage is something of a gamble."

Fishermen Detained

"Never use self-polishing wax on wood floors!"

. . . says Henry M. Tobey, Research Director of the world's largest hardwood floor maker

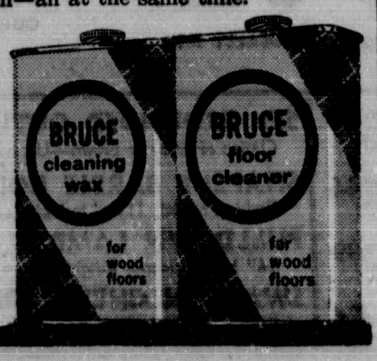

"Those self-polishing waxes that work wonders in your kitchen can be the ruin of wood floors. Most are made primarily of synthetic plastics and cannot be removed from wood floors without damaging the wood or the finish.

As the layers of old self-polishing wax pile up, your wood floor gradually darkens and discolors.

The best wood floor care we can recommend is Bruce Cleaning Wax or Bruce Floor Cleaner. Both contain a removable liquid paste wax and waterless wood floor cleaner. They clean; remove the old wax; and leave a rich, new coat of paste wax protection—all at the same time.

When a heavy coat of wax is desired, Bruce Cleaning Wax is best. For badly soiled floors or lighter waxing, use Bruce Floor Cleaner. It's the right way to keep wood floors bright."

AGC Blasts Morrison On Carpentry

A letter Gov. Frank Morrison wrote last September to the U.S. Labor Department about what work carpenter helpers can do on Interstate projects came under fire from the Nebraska Chapter of Associated General Contractors.

It concerned a long-standing AGC-carpenters union dispute on interpreting the federal Davis-Bacon Act which says the federal government may specify minimum wages on Interstate projects, but requires the U.S. Labor Dept. to consult with state highway departments before setting them.

State Engineer John Hossack said the Labor Dept. never consulted him about the matter at issue, and apparently considers its contact with the governor sufficient.

The carpenters contend some contractors have carpenter helpers, whose wage scale is lower, do carpenters' work.

On Sept. 6, Morrison wrote U.S. Labor Solicitor Charles Donahue that he (Morrison) understood there are very definite guidelines for classification of carpenters and carpenter helpers on Bureau of Reclamation jobs.

The governor's information came from M. A. Hutcheson, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

"I am assuming that the same qualifications are also to be used in our highway jobs in Nebraska," Morrison wrote Donahue.

In a letter dated Oct. 1, Donahue replied the assumption was correct.

On Nov. 21, Morrison wrote Hossack: "It appears that the Department of Roads has no alternative but to comply with the guidelines set forth."

The AGC charged Morrison's action was influenced by "union endorsements he received during the campaign."

"We hope we are wrong," the AGC said, "but dates on correspondence between the governor and Donahue look like the governor's recommendation had something to do with union endorsements.

"The governor could correct the mistake simply by picking up the telephone and telling Donahue he wants to save Nebraska's road money instead of wasting it."

Morrison answered that the charges of union pressure were "completely false," and denied he had issued any order directed at carpenter helpers.

"What I did," he said, "was to inform the State Department of Roads that it should comply with federal regulations so that Nebraska would not lose any federal funds for highway projects."

Solon's Mind Not Made Up On Aid Revise

Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper Tuesday said he has not decided yet whether to support proposed amendments to his bill providing mandatory fixed state aid for educable mentally and physically handicapped children.

Rasmussen

The much-debated measure, LB184, comes up for renewed debate Wednesday—and Rasmussen said he "will be ready."

Pending are amendments proposed by Sen. Elvin Adamson of Nenzel which would tie state aid closer to actual costs by categorizing specific sums for specific handicaps.

The bill received its first floor debate Feb. 5. Amendments were offered Feb. 12, and the measure has been held since that date.

As drawn, LB184 provides state education aid at a per-pupil rate of $300 for educable mentally handicapped and $600 for physically handicapped.

Meanwhile, another bill was held on general file Tuesday until completion of debate on LB184.

The measure, LB426, would broaden State Education Department services to deaf children so as to include preschool youngsters.

Budget Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings asked figures on possible costs involved.

Republicans Get Jump On White House By Introducing Medicare Bill

Washington (UPI) — Five Republican senators got the jump on the White House Tuesday by introducing a medicare bill similar to one that barely was defeated in the Senate last year.

President Kennedy will present to Congress at noon Thursday his proposal to set up a health care plan for the aged under social security.

The legislation introduced Tuesday by 5 Republican senators from the liberal wing of the party also would finance medicare under the social security system.

GOP whip Thomas H. Kuchel, Calif., and Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., John Sherman Cooper, Ky., and Kenneth B. Keating and Jacob K. Javits, N.Y., co-sponsored the bill.

"We are not closing our minds to other methods under social security," they said in a joint statement. "We will examine carefully all developments in this field and will be ready to cooperate with Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., as we did last year in working for the passage of a law which meets the pressing health needs of our aging citizens."

The bill is far from a consensus proposal by Republicans. Many other GOP senators have sharply attacked the social security financing form in the past and are not believed to have mellowed much, if any, in their opposition.

The GOP liberal bill differs from last year's administration proposal in that it would:

Include an estimated 2-½ million persons over 65 who are not covered by social security; provide an option under which beneficiaries would have a choice of receiving hospital benefit programs through private plans rather than through the government; allow private organizations and states to help administer the program; and provide for a separate health insurance trust fund.

"These provisions are essential if there is to be a recognition that private enterprise is an important partner in the effort to meet the special needs of the aging," Javits said.

Cuba's Red Party Nears Formal Launching

Havana (AP) — Cuba's long-awaited Communist party appears nearly ready for formal launching, Western diplomats said Tuesday.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro will address a regional gathering of nuclei of the United Party of the Socialist Revolution (PURS) Friday night.

Diplomats saw the announced speech as one of several indications that organizational work is nearing completion on PURS, this country's version of a monolithic, Marxist-Leninist party.

Another sign has been the increasing appearance in the press of references to the formation of political units or cadres. And more and more government leaders are referring to "the party."

Some East European observers, however, dispute the belief that the party is anywhere near ready for a formal unveiling.

Diplomatic sources in close contact with government leaders say that the party will be unable to function as long as the Castro regime does not make a clear choice between the conflicting policies of Moscow and Peking.

Red Envoy Named

Moscow (UPI)—The Communist Party newspaper Pravda announced that Alexander Ivanovich Loshchakov has been appointed Soviet ambassador to Switzerland, succeeding Josef Kuzmin.

Science Show Contains Magic

By TOM PERRY
Star Staff Writer

It was a magic show—without sleight-of-hand.

Instead of a rabbit from a hat, rubber exploded from a pop bottle; a radio and a model car operated without wires or batteries; a wire vanished in a flash of light; and a suitcase danced on one of its corners.

It was the General Motors "Preview of Progress" show at Irving Junior High School Tuesday afternoon. Nine other high schools and junior highs in and around Lincoln have had the show presented to their students, and two more will Wednesday.

About 1,000 Irving students were kept between awe and laughter by Jack Pyle and his assistant Gus Buenz.

Pyle started them laughing with a standard joke: "Sorry to have taken you from your classes," and kept up a fast patter as he mixed the contents of two bottles to demonstrate polymer chemistry.

'No Mishaps — Yet!'

"We haven't had any serious accidents," he said, drawing a laugh, and added, "yet!" for another.

"This stuff isn't dangerous unless it gets hot," he said, shaking the pop bottle, "which it's doing now. If something happens, please keep your seats for about 15 seconds. That'll give me time to get out first."

When synthetic rubber finally exploded from the mouth of the bottle into large bubbles, however, the kids stopped laughing and were properly impressed.

Cells And Cells

Other demonstrations showed a model car powered by solar cells; fuel cells that converted chemical energy directly into electricity; a suitcase whose erratic behavior was caused by the gyroscope inside it; a fine wire that disintegrated when 30 million watts flashed through it in a split-second — "possibly useful for propelling space ships," Pyle explained — and a jet-pulse engine whose roar filled the auditorium, and drew laughter when it stopped suddenly.

The science show is given free at schools across the country by 6 other teams like Pyle and Buenz. Its purpose is to stimulate interest in science and engineering.

"We have no positive way to measure its effectiveness," said Pyle.

"That is, we can never say that Johnny Jones began a career in chemistry because of us. But we get thousands of letters from high schools across the nation requesting the show. We go by that."

Since 1946

General Motors apparently finds the show worthwhile; it has been presenting it since 1946. In that time it has been seen by 30 million adults and children in the U.S. and Canada, and 22 foreign nations.

The second member of this team, Gus Buenz, hails from Ogallala.

He attended high school there and took his degree in journalism from the University of Nebraska. Jack Pyle is from Pontiac, Mich., and graduated in radio and television from Michigan State University.

Dean H. Petersen was awarded a pin for 25 years of service in the Boy Scouts by the executive committee of the Cornhusker Council Tuesday.

Petersen, 59, of 2401 Park Ave., is in his second year as president of the Cornhusker Council. During his time in Scouting, he has held almost every post, both at district and council level.

Petersen told the committee he got his start in the scouts when he was drafted as assistant scoutmaster in Valley.

"At the second meeting, the scoutmaster failed to show up," said Petersen, "and suddenly the troop was mine."

Contact Need Is Spelled Out By RFE Man

Stephen Bede, chief of Radio Free Europe broadcasts to Hungary and a refugee from the Iron Curtain himself, detailed the need for continued "people-to-people" contacts from the free world to communist-controlled countries.

Speaking before the Lincoln Rotary Club, Bede called RFE a most effective force for freedom because of its reputation across the Iron Curtain, and its many sources of information which makes it "the best-informed source on life in communist countries."

James Paxton, state RFE chairman, noted that he was convinced of the need for RFE, because of its position independent of any government or administration.

Paxton also assured the Rotarians that communist infiltration of the RFE organization has been halted since security measures were evolved to screen Iron Curtain country refugees who comprise a large portion of RFE staff.

Radio Free Europe is a private, non-profit operation with an $11 million annual budget raised from private donations. It operates 28 transmitters which cover the entire European communist satellite complex.

Denver Appraiser Named To Evaluate Crossroads

A Denver appraiser has been appointed to make an appraisal of the Crossroads Motor Hotel at 10th and O by U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt.

Watson Bowes of A. G. Bowes & Sons Co. was named on motion of Clarence A. Davis, trustee for Third Recon Corp.

Third Recon has been under court proceedings for corporate reorganization under federal bankruptcy law since May 1962.

Davis advised the court the reasonable value of the corporation's property — the Crossroads hotel and the National Bank of Commerce's Patio Bank Drive-In—should be determined by an independent appraiser.

He said the appraisal was needed for classification of creditors and in event foreclosure and sale of property should become necessary.

Corporate liabilities were listed as $2,129,670 as of last June 25. Assets were estimated at $1,912,016.

Ray To Appear

In other action, Van Pelt has ordered W. D. Ray to appear at a March 5 hearing to give testimony regarding a verbal "cost plus" construction contract between Third Recon and W. D. Ray & Co.

Ray was both president and principle stockholder of Third Recon and owned W. D. Ray & Co., an unincorporated construction firm, when the Crossroads was under construction.

Ray has been directed to bring books, accounts and other papers dealing with the Crossroads' construction to court.

LAW'S RIFLE LAYS LOOSE HEIFER LOW

A 900-pound heifer made a bid for freedom from American Stores at 320 N Tuesday morning, but the enraged cow finally had to be shot to death by Deputy Sheriff Norman Monroe.

The heifer got loose when a truck backed into a pen at the wrong angle, allowing her to push between the gate and the truck's side.

After workers gave chase for 25 minutes, the sheriff's office was called. Monroe first spotted the animal by some tracks. He felled her with one rifle shot, he said.

But she struggled back up and ran south to 3rd and J. Monroe chased the heifer and killed her with two more shots. He noted that she had charged chasing workers repeatedly.

Morrison Not For Fund For World's Fair

Gov. Frank Morrison Tuesday said he doesn't think the Unicameral should be asked to provide money for Nebraska's participation in the 1964-65 New York World's Fair.

The governor made his feeling known in a letter to W. L. Shomaker of Omaha, chairman of the Heartland World's Fair Exhibit Commission. The commission has been working nearly two years on a joint exhibit with other Midwestern states to promote tourism, industrial development and economic growth of the region.

The governor said the most compelling reason for his stand is the 1967 Nebraska Centennial which "will require substantial sums of money, both public and private, if we are to take maximum advantage of Nebraska's hundredth anniversary."

Morrison said his opinion was based on a canvass of state senators.

The governor said the Legislature is struggling with the problem of financing the state's share of the Centennial celebration and the legislators share with him the feeling that it would not be timely to ask the Unicameral to undertake financing both at the same session.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

First baby about to make his (or her) debut? When you pack for that joyous trip to the hospital, apart from the basic necessities for you and baby, here are a few minor necessities that will stand you in good stead:

- A simple cosmetic kit, to indulge in a bit of luxury primping that may be by-passed when you get home.
- Note paper and a ball point pen, to dash off those "thank-you" notes you may not have time for later.
- Some small change for papers, magazines, stamps, etc.

Bottle-feeding facts. If you and your doctor have decided that bottle-feeding is for your baby, ask him about Modilac™ ...the Gerber Baby Formula. It's a special milk formula, that provides the nutrients your baby will need. Modilac really looks like milk and tastes like milk because it's flash-sterilized in 6 seconds to protect color and flavor, as well as precious protein and vitamin values.

For your convenience, Modilac is a complete formula. No syrup or sugar to measure or mix. No vitamin supplement needed. All you have to do is combine it with the amount of boiled water your doctor specifies.

Organization plan. Home at last, with a new love in your heart and no time on your hands. If you do a bit of pre-planning and organize your days in terms of baby's needs first and chores second, you'll fare beautifully. Household duties can usually wait—a little heart that needs you can't.

Solid start. Almost before you know it, your baby will be ready for cereal. Good starting point for this important step: Gerber Cereal Sixes. This handy, 6-in-1 package contains small-size boxes for pint-size appetites. Rice Cereal, Mixed Cereal, High Protein Cereal and 2 Oatmeal make up this nice-to-eat sextette. Flavors are delicate, the way they should be for babies, the texture dreamy-smooth. And, they're enriched with iron, calcium, and B-vitamins. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Abandoned Property Bill Is Revived

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Tuesday on a 23-15 vote revived the unclaimed and abandoned property bill killed by the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee.

Twenty-two votes were required to overrule the committee's decision.

The action—successfully initiated by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff—marked the first time this session that a bid has been made to override a committee.

The bill, LB8, provides for acquisition by the state of property unclaimed or abandoned for 10 years or more.

Carpenter told the Legislature the measure would likely furnish "not less than a million dollars in revenue in the first year." The largest amounts would be gained during the first two years or so, he noted.

Led Opposition

Banking Chairman Albert Kjar of Lexington led opposition to Carpenter's motion, suggesting that proposed amendments to the bill "weakened (it) beyond workable legislation."

Kjar said "those who favored the bill (at its public hearing) suggested enough weaknesses and proposed enough amendments to actually oppose the bill."

Kjar pointed out a state constitutional requirement which provides that such funds, if accepted by the state, must go into the permanent state school fund, rather than into the general fund as desired by Carpenter.

LB8, as drawn, would place the money in the permanent school fund, but Carpenter had proposed consideration of the general fund. However, he told Kjar, he was not then aware of constitutional requirements and would be happy to see such funds used for the schools.

Carpenter noted that some 30 states have adopted similar legislation, that LB8 provides safeguards for owners of abandoned property and that "practically no one disagrees that the property does not belong to those who may have custody of it."

Vote on Carpenter's motion:

For: Bahensky, Bowen, Brandt, Burbach, Carpenter, Craft, Danner, Fleming, Forrester, Foster, Klaver, Kremer, Lysinger, McGinley, Orme, R. Rasmussen, Reeves, Ruhnke, Skarda, Stalder, Stryker, Syas, Warner.

Against: Adamson, Bridenbaugh, Damrow, Gerdes, Gerhart, Gottschalk, Hasebrook, Kjar, Marvel, Nelson, Payne, Russillo, Stromer, Thompson, Wylie.

Not Voting: Claussen, Erlewine, Mahoney, Moulton, E. Rasmussen.

Teacher Retirement Bill Advanced By Legislators

A bill authorizing the Lincoln school district to establish a retirement system for its teachers and other employes was one of 9 advancing from general file in first floor tests in the Legislature Tuesday.

The Lincoln bill, LB247, was introduced by Lancaster County's three senators.

Consideration was delayed briefly while Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff looked into the possibility of extending the bill to cover all Class III districts, such as the Scottsbluff school district. Carpenter finally decided against the amendment idea and the bill was advanced in original form. He said he did not want to slow down the Lincoln bill or endanger its passage.

Other bills advanced from general file included:

LB229—Prohibiting an employe of a public power district who is involved in a contract, pension or receives any other emolument from the district from serving on the district's board of directors.

LB298—Clarifying the organization of the State Military Department.

LB250—Clarifying the bond registration requirements applicable to the City of Lincoln.

LB430—Making proof of ownership of branded livestock permissive rather than mandatory.

LB431—Redefining livestock brands to mean those on shoulder, ribs or hip.

LB443—Increasing the fee for recording and renewing livestock brands from $2 to $3 and for transferring brands, from $1.50 to $3.

LB429—Increasing from 6,000 to 9,000 pounds the allowable loads of vehicles licensed as farm trailers.

LB93—Requiring disposal systems to be installed in accordance with regulations of the State Department of Health and State Water Pollution Control Council, and providing for district court prosecution.

In other action, Sen. Marvin Stromer of Lincoln asked legislative permission to withdraw his LB606, revising the employment security law unemployment benefit table and increasing the maximum weekly benefit amount from $34 to $42.

Action on the request was deferred.

Bill Held For New Hearing

A routine corrective bill apparently headed for final passage in the Legislature was halted in its tracks Tuesday upon discovery that the bill could cost some bowling alley operators some money.

Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala, chairman of the Judiciary Committee which introduced and heard the bill, called attention to the discovery and got unanimous consent to refer the bill to the Revenue Committee for a new public hearing.

The measure, LB145, was one of a series of bills merely making technical and harmonizing corrections in statutes. It relates to the licensing by counties of pool halls and bowling alleys located outside city limits.

For some reason, the 50-year-old law set license fees for pool halls—$10 for each of the first three tables, $5 for each additional table—but neglected to set any fees for bowling alleys.

McGinley said that on the assumption that the bowling alley fee provisions had been dropped inadvertently during statutory revisions, the revisor of statutes wrote into the corrective bill the same fee schedule for bowling alleys—$10 for each of the first three alleys and $5 for each additional alley.

But later checking showed that fees for bowling alleys had been omitted from the time the act was first passed in 1913. It thus became new legislation, warranting a new public hearing.

Ground Breaking Planned March 3

North Platte (AP) — Ground will be broken Sunday March 3 for North Platte's new federal office building, Bob Brown, president of the Chamber of Commerce has announced.

A formal dedication is planned June 23, 1964, on completion of the building.

The new building will have space for the Post Office, Federal Court, and most other federal offices now housed in North Platte.

Happy Birthday

A trite expression, such as "95 years young" would never do for Mrs. W. H. Ferguson. It just wouldn't fit. Mrs. Ferguson is far from trite even though she is a very young 95 years old—today.

To many longtime residents of Lincoln, Mrs. Ferguson needs no introduction. They already know that she has resided in her home at 700 So. 16th St. for well over 50 years; they know of her civic work, her social prominence—and also of her skill at bridge.

Mrs. Ferguson's close friends also know that she attended Hastings College, and that after her marriage to Mr. Ferguson who had "come west" from Illinois, the Ferguson family, including her two sons, Robert L. Ferguson and Richard Ferguson, resided in Hastings before they became residents of Lincoln.

"It doesn't seem possible," Mrs. Ferguson will tell you, "but I have kept house for 76 years."

As we said before, the longtime residents know all of these things.

The younger generations, however, may not know that for many years Mrs. Ferguson devoted her time and attention to the Juvenile Court and worked with three judges — Judge Fred Shepherd, Judge Lincoln Frost and Judge Cosgrave — when they presided at Juvenile Court hearings.

Her interest in juvenile offenders led to one of Mrs. Ferguson's pet projects, a Boys Club, perhaps one of the first in the nation. Mrs. Ferguson is quick to say that although the idea may have been her own, the Boys Club was maintained with money contributed by friends. The late Mr. Ferguson donated a house to the cause — the one directly east of the Ferguson home. It was large and spacious in those days, and housed boys whose ages ranged from nine years to 12 and 14 and who had no place to live, not enough to eat, and too young to earn a livlihood. As the boys became older and found work, their places were taken by younger ones. There was a steady procession of masculine youth in and out of the house until the First World War.

During the years the Boys Club was in existence Mrs. Ferguson took on the financial responsibility and the management even though she had installed a man and his wife in the house to look after the youthful occupants. The book work, the keeping of accounts, paying the bills and the various and sundry matters that are involved in such a venture, kept Mrs. Ferguson busy — and she loved every moment of it.

The boys helped, too. If the older boys could find some small job, they contributed a small bit of their earnings to the house fund. The small boys had a garden —the land also contributed by Mr. Ferguson — and each day the lads weeded and cultivated, and eventually — and with pride — took home the vegetables for eating and canning.

When the Boys Club was disbanded in 1917 Mrs. Ferguson donated the beds, and the kitchen utensils to the Red Cross which had set up a hospital on R Street, near the University of Nebraska campus. The money remaining in the Club fund was presented to the Lincoln General Hospital with the understanding that should ever one of Mrs. Ferguson's "boys" need hospital care, he would get it, free of charge.

Sunny Days Come To Suburbia

EASTBOROUGH

It seemed, for a while, that the February thaw was upon us—and during these past few sunny days we began searching for a blade or two of green grass, sorry, no encouragement.

Although most Suburban residents still are pessimistic about the weather, they still take advantage of the milder temperatures to visit friends and relatives, or to jump into the car for a weekend jaunt.

Off for more than a weekend, however, went Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Carlson and their children, Linda, Jonathan, David, Kay, Roderick, and Sandra.

The Carlsons' left Tuesday, Feb. 19 for Axtell to visit several relatives before heading for New York and then on to Tanganyika, Africa.

Mr. Carlson is associated with the missionary service of the Lutheran Church and he and his family will be living in Africa for at least two years.

Back in Meadow Lane after two weeks in California and a few days in Tucson, Ariz. and Albuquerque, N.M. are Mrs. Harold Sorenson and her son, Bert.

Mrs. Sorenson and Bert left Lincoln early in January to visit Mrs. Sorenson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Gerard and their brand new baby daughter, Betsy, in Chula Vista, Calif.

Tucson and Albuquerque were stopovers on the return trip, and the two Lincoln travelers arrived home on Jan. 21.

CASINO HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schulte combined business with pleasure when they flew to Chicago last weekend.

Mrs. Schulte wasn't sure what the sight-seeing itinerary would include but was anticipating an enjoyable weekend away from home.

INDIAN VILLAGE

More recent travelers were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd D. Fuller who motored to Fremont for a small family gathering of Mrs. Fuller's family.

The miniature reunion was held at the home of Mrs. Fuller's sister, Mrs. Charles Keith, and guests included Mrs. Fuller's mother, Mrs. Mary Warneking of Superior, and Mr. Howard Harvey of Republic, Kan., a close friend of the family.

COTNER TERRACE

Omaha bound travelers last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hubbard who visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hersh and their little ones, Lori, Diane, and Danny.

Mr. and Mrs. John Herstein and their children, Johnny and Julie were recent dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Drake.

Mrs. Drake is the former Gwen Herstein, and is residing at 2100 No. 56.

TALK

How lucky can Lincoln be? No freezing drizzle, no snow —nothing but sunshine in spite of all the prophecies. But let's keep our fingers crossed, just in case Lady Luck deserts us. We think it would be very nice of the weather man to give us nothing but sunshine today—it's Mrs. W. H. Ferguson's birthday as we have mentioned elsewhere on the page.

But today Mrs. Ferguson is to be honored at a luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club. The foursome will include the remaining four of the 12 members once known as the 'Thursday Club, and in the group, in addition to Mrs. Ferguson, will be Mrs. E. C. Ames, Mrs. L. W. Korsmeyer and Mrs. George L. Towne.

Following the luncheon the afternoon will be devoted to bridge.

And we wouldn't want a change in the weather to spoil the "To a Tax Reduction on Your Travel and Entertainment" party planned by the Safari Club. The festive event begins with hors d' oeuvres at 7:30 o'clock, with dinner and dancing later. We're wondering if Federal Income Tax Forms will be used in the party decor.

Planning the affair is a committee composed of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Moran, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Steinacher, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stemper, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vestecka, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Von Dane, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank White, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Yant.

* * *

Have a guest to mention this morning, too — She is Mrs. Jack Pollock who arrives today from Ogallala for a several days visit with her parrents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Buck.

Mr. Pollock plans to join the family group a few days hence.

From Bloomfield Heights, Colo., this morning comes news of the arrival of Gregory Scott Kruger on Monday, Feb. 11. The young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kruger, and his mother is the former Barbara Kissler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kissler of Lincoln. Also included in Gregory's family circle are his brother, Doug — and sister, Pam.

Opening lead — six of hearts.

There is quite a difference between playing a hand looking at all 52 cards, and playing a hand seeing only dummy's 13 cards and your own. Naturally, you would do better in the long run if you saw the defenders' cards, but this does not mean that you can't play some hands just as well as if all cards were exposed.

For example, look at this hand played by Meyer Schleifer, Los Angeles star. He became declarer with the South hand at five spades doubled.

West led the six of hearts, which East won with the eight. East couldn't be sure whether West or South had the missing deuce of hearts, so he led the ace of clubs to see whether West would signal for a club continuation. West played the ten on the ace, thus announcing he had the king, and, in effect, that he also had the missing heart.

So East played the queen of clubs which declarer ruffed. Schleifer then led a spade and went up with the ace, refusing the finesse. The ace caught the king and as a result Schleifer made five spades doubled because of his unusual play.

Of course, anyone seeing the singleton king in East's hand would have done exactly the same, but the fact is that Schleifer speared the king without having this advantage. He saw only 26 cards and yet played as though he had seen all 52.

Naturally, there was a good reason for his play. The inference he drew that West could not have the king of spades came from the bidding. West had passed three diamonds and also had passed four spades.

West therefore could not have both the king of clubs and king of spades and pass each time in the face of his partner's two bid. It followed that East had to have the king of spades and the only hope that remained was that the king was unguarded.

Why Grow Old?

For Teen-Agers

Josephine Lowman

Here's a "Hello" to all of your readers who are following my 8-Week Beauty Improvement Plan! By now, you should be feeling pretty proud of yourselves! A letter has just arrived from one of the women who is working with this plan. It brings up a question which other readers may be interested in. The letter says, in part:

"My daughter is also enthusiastic about working on your eight-week routine, but there is a question as to just how this plan will apply to her.

"She will soon be 16 and is sure she has the 'worst figure in the world.' She is 5 feet, 4 inches tall, and weighs 124 pounds. Her measurements are bust 35 inches, waist 27 and hips 37 inches. She is short waisted.

"I would like to help her since she is so very conscientious about eating, exercise and general health and cleanliness. Her body is so solid that it seems that not an ounce will drop off.

"She is not a snacker and after school will eat a few sticks of celery rather than sweets. About a month ago she started in earnest to eliminate almost all breads, desserts and such things and I had to insist that she balance her diet. She exercises faithfully each night for about 15 minutes. Her legs are a particular trouble spot, just above the calf and below the knee.

"Please discuss this in your column since you seem to have a real understanding and interest in teen-agers."

First, teen-agers can follow my 8-Week plan with profit and fun. I think the BIP weight chart will be most attractive to them and will urge them on to success. However, a teen-ager should not cut her diet too drastically. She is still growing and developing and the average teen-ager is usually quite active, physically. Also, you are SO right! She should eat a well balanced diet.

If this young woman has a medium build, she is only about seven pounds overweight. If she has a small build she is quite a lot overweight and if she has a large frame she is not at all overweight.

Try this exercise for the calves:

Stand with your left side toward the wall and your left hand on the wall. Raise your left leg forward with a stiff knee. Lower leg to floor. As you lift and lower your leg pull your toe back toward your head. Do the same thing with your right leg and continue, alternating left and right.

It is not too late to begin my 8-Week Beauty Improvement Plan to see how much you can improve your appearance in eight weeks time. The Beauty Improvement Plan Kit gives detailed information on how to proceed. It also includes the BIP weight chart on which you can plot your weight and watch your beauty line rise as your weight line drops.

Dear Abby

Tell Him You're Jealous--He'll Love It

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been fighting about this ever since Christmas and I'd like it settled. The employees at his office exchanged names and each one put down what he (or she) wanted for Christmas. The girl whose name my husband drew put down she wanted a red silk slip! I told my husband that over my dead body he'd buy another woman a red silk slip. He said I was narrow-minded and a poor sport, but I held my ground and he finally bought her a nice bottle of cologne instead. He still throws it up to me that I was a poor sport. Is it proper for a man to buy intimate apparel for someone other than his wife, or WAS I a poor sport?

JEN

DEAR JEN: Tell your husband that you are frankly jealous and admit to being a poor sport when it comes to his buying lingerie for other women. He'll love you for it. And I'll bet he shuts up.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for telling that woman not to complain because her husband never said "I love you," that talk was cheap, and if he supported her and behaved himself, she should be satisfied. I left my husband some years ago because all he said was "I love you"—but before we had been married a year, he had broken every rule in the book. And while his "I love yous" were still ringing in my ears, he was bouncing me off every wall in the house.

SICK OF "I LOVE YOU"

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: If you go to a prom with a very nice, but very shy, boy and at intermission he invites another couple to go for a ride with you, and the other couple is very mushy and they are sitting in the back seat necking like there is no tomorrow and the boy who is necking yells to your date that he had better hurry up and kiss you or he will show him how—what are you supposed to do? (That's not a very good sentence but that is what happened to me and it was very embarrassing.)

SOPHOMORE

DEAR SOPHOMORE: You are supposed to pretend you are deaf. And if your date gets flustered, turn up the radio and drown out the cheering action.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Sign Of Spring: Baseball Training Camps Opening

CASEY'S CLUES . . . Stengel demonstrates pick off motion to pitcher Jay Hook, center, and coach Ernie White at New York Mets camp.

APPEARANCE OF GREEN BOOK ONE OF FIRST SIGNALS

Cincinnati (AP)—The teams are at or ready to leave for spring traing camps and the National League Green Book made its appearance Tuesday. What more proof do you need that spring is just around the corner and that another baseball season is moving in fast?

The Green Book, the annual product of National League Service Director Dave Grote, and Lou Krems of the league office, is the good right arm of baseball writers and sportscasters when it comes to statistics and records of the 10 National League teams.

It is 64 pages that include squad rosters with such things as birthplace, present residence, age, height, weight and last year's performance along with league, team and individual records. Some of the records go back as far as 1876.

It probably would be a "best seller" but it's available only to the various clubs, to the men who write baseball and who describe it by radio or television.

The statistics are what are dear to the hearts of baseball fans.

For instance, the book lists the lifetime batting performances by all present players who have been in 100 games or more. It is no surprise, of course, to see that Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cards leads the field with an average .333 over 21 years.

Milwaukee's Hank Aaron is second with .320 over 9 years and San Francisco's Willie Mays is 3rd with .315 over 11 years.

In the lifetime pitching records attention always is directed to the Braves' Warren Spahn. But did you know that Spahn (327-209) has only an 18-34 record against the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers? He has a winning percentage over every other club.

As to the 1962 season, the book shows some facts which may surprise.

Who would you say was the top control pitcher of the season? It was Bob Shaw of the Braves, who allowed an average of 1.76 walks a 9-inning game in 225 innings pitched.

The Houston Colts' newcomers to the league in 1962, came up with a couple of leaders that might surprise.

Their Bob Lillis was the toughest batter to fan. He struck out only once in every 20.35 times at bat. And the Colts' Al Spangler has the best record for not hitting into double plays. He did it only once in 418 times at bat.

And there is more about the amazing Musial. The latest compilation of all-time league leaders in each batting department from 1876 through 1962 shows he leads all the rest in total games played, at bats, runs, hits, doubles, total bases and runs batted in.

He is 4th in total number of singles, 8th in triples, second in home runs and 6th in slugging percentage.

Contract Signing Tempo Picks Up As Camps Open

Few Big Name Players Still Negotiating Terms

. . . REDS' PINSON MAY MISS TRAINING

By Associated Press

Gene Woodling quashed reports that he planned to quit and become a New York Yankee coach when he signed his player contract Tuesday with the New York Mets.

Billy O'Dell of the San Francisco Giants signed up for a boost in pay as the boys began to get in line with batterymen due to start work in many camps.

Veteran Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette, a holdout many times in past years, also signed Tuesday. The 36-year-old right-hander, who slumped to a 10-9 mark last season, reportedly agreed to $40,000, about the same as his 1962 salary.

For the most part, the "big name" players still unsigned, like Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris of the New York Yankees and Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants, were not due to report for another week or so.

The Cincinnati Reds who have most of their big name pitchers under contract, except Jim O'Toole, got some bad news from Oakland, Calif., where Vada Pinson, their star centerfielder, had his appendix removed. The word is that Pinson may miss virtually all the spring training season.

Ralph Terry was the only Yankee batteryman unsigned with the world champs due to take their first workout Wednesday. Catcher Elson Howard signed for a reported $45,000 and pitcher Bill Stafford came to terms for an estimated $22,000. Utility infielder Phil Linz, an early bird at his own request, also signed. Terry, who got $23,000 last year when he won 23, reportedly is asking for $40,000.

The Mets held their first workout Tuesday with 24 men in uniform not including holdouts Roger Craig and Ken MacKenzie. The major unsigned regulars, not due until next week, are Frank Thomas, Marv Throneberry and Rod Kanehl. Throneberry revealed in Memphis, Tenn. that he had returned two Met contracts unsigned.

Woodling, 40-year-old outfielder, took a slight cut to about $35,000.

O'Dell and utility outfielder Carl Boles were the Giant signees. Among the 6 not in the fold are Mays, Cepeda, Jack Sanford and Juan Marichal. Also unsigned are outfielder Matty Alou and pitcher Bob Bolin who is in military service.

Detroit announced the signing of Bob Dustal, a relief pitcher who had a great season in winter ball. The Tigers' pitchers and catchers open training Wednesday.

The Houston Colts reported for their first workout at Apache Junction, Ariz. with catcher Merritt Ranew among the unsigned. A total of 31 pitchers and 6 catchers ran through a brisk drill.

The St. Louis Cards signed 3—catcher Tim McCarver and pitchers Ray Sadecki and Alan Price—leaving 9 unsigned with the batterymen due Friday at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Sports Editor, The Star

Early Start

Newt Copple is a man of tireless action — and that includes continuously working out to maintain wrestling trim and starting early to promote the 1963 Great Plains AAU Collegiate Wrestling Championships.

Copple, the meet director, already sent word to some 75 colleges and amateur wrestling teams announcing that the second annual GPAAUCW (pronounced gpaaucw, if you like) will be held at Pershing Auditorium Dec. 13-14.

"We had 140 entrants in the first meet," Copple reports. "We're expecting 50 to 100 additional entries this year. I have talked to Myron Roderick and he says that Oklahoma State will be here."

This newest event on Lincoln's sports calendar brings a lot of talent and publicity to the Capital City. Last year's entries included teams from Air Force Academy, Chadron State Teachers College, Cornell College, Dana College, Doane College, Ft. Hays State, Hastings College, Iowa State, University of Iowa, Kansas State, Kearney State Teachers College, Lincoln AFB, Midland College, Morningside College, University of Nebraska, Offutt AFB, Oklahoma State, Omaha U., Omaha YMCA, State College of Iowa, South Dakota State, Southern Illinois, U.S. Air Force, and Westmar College.

So mark down Dec. 13-14 as another big-time sports attraction at Pershing Auditorium.

All Big 8?

It's election time around the basketball circuit. Scribes are being badgered from all points to register All America and All Big 8 votes.

Judging Big 8 talent is considerably easier than picking an All America lineup because it's possible to watch the candidates.

At this stage of the campaign, my All Big team choices are: Jim Davis, 6-8, of Colorado; Ken Charlton, 6-6, of Colorado; Willie Murrell, 6-5, of Kansas State; Larry Hawk, 6-2, of Oklahoma State; and Nolen Ellison, 6-1, of Kansas.

However, Ellison may have a tough time making the club — even though he's a very fine guard — in view of the Jayhawks' collapse since winning the loop tournament in December.

If Oklahoma State charges to the title — the Cowboys now have the inside track — a strong case can be made for two spots on the honor club, and 6-6 Jim King will get heavy support.

Other standouts who might crack the top two all-star teams with late flurries are Gary Marriott, 6-5, of Kansas State; George Unseld, 6-7, of Kansas; Vince Brewer, 6-3, and Marv Straw, 6-5, of Iowa State; Eddie Evans, 5-9, of Oklahoma; and Ray Bob Carey, 6-6 of Missouri.

All America?

In the race for All America honors the field is filled with top candidates.

Among the leaders are 6-8 George Wilson and 6-5 Ron Bonham of Cincinnati, 6-5 Art Heyman of Duke, 6-5 Joe Caldwell of Arizona State, 6-2 Jerry Harkness of Loyola, 6-3 Nick Werkman of Seton Hall, 6-2 Jim Rayl of Indiana, 6-4 Rod Thorn of West Virginia, and Colorado's Charlton.

Best bets to make it: Harkness, Heyman, Wilson, Bonham, Caldwell — or are they?

'Sheriff' Autry Leads Posse Of Angels On Trip

Palm Springs, Calif. (AP)—Led by "Sheriff" Gene Autry, a posse-like troop of bicycle riding Los Angles Angle rode out the main street of this resort Tuesday and set up its baseball training at the ball park.

There were 50 players, coaches and Manager Bill Rigney aboard the bikes as the full squad checked in for spring drills.

Rigney emphasized the bicycle act—a round trip of 6 miles from their hotel to the Polo Grounds — is no gag.

It was inaugurated last year and proved beneficial in getting the players' legs in shape, he said.

The players were in uniform. Autry, noted for his cowboy singing roles in the movies, was attired in his usual western attire, including boots but no spurs.

K-State Gains Tie For First

. . . KANSAS BEATEN, 67-54

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Kansas State, paced by fiery Max Moss, moved into a first-place tie with Oklahoma State in the Big 8 Conference basketball race by whipping Kansas 67-54 Tuesday night.

A crowd of about 8,500 saw the Wildcats run their conference record to 7-2 as Moss scored 18 points, Gary Marriott 16 and Willie Murrell 16.

Oklahoma State also has a 7-2 mark. Iowa State is 8-3, and Colorado 7-3 in the 4-team title chase.

K-State's balanced attack was too much for the Jayhawkers, who had the game's two top scorers in Nolen Ellison with 22 and George Unseld with 21.

The Wildcats wiped out a 22-15 Kansas lead in the final 6½ minutes of the first half and moved in front 32-27 at halftime. Kansas never was closer than 5 points after that 17-5 K-State surge. Al Peithman and 7-foot Roger Suttner combined for half of K-State's first half points.

Kansas edged the Wildcats 90-88 in 4 overtimes for the Big 8 holiday tournament title in December.

Tiger's Camp Sees 'Desperate' Foe

. . . TITLE BOUT SATURDAY

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP) — "A desperate fighter is a dangerous one and we expect Fullmer to throw everything."

Jersey Jones, American representative for middleweight champion Dick Tiger, was speaking Tuesday about Gene Fullmer.

The two fighters meet Saturday in a 15-round title bout.

"This is do or die with Fullmer," Jones said. "It's sink or swim because he'll quit if he loses. We expect a tougher fight than San Francisco and Tiger is training to go 15 rugged rounds.

"Fullmer isn't a dirty fighter but he is rough, sometimes unnecessarily so. He might butt or elbow but that is because his style is rough. We'll be ready."

Unconcerned

Jones said he is unconcerned about Fullmer's fine showing in training camp here. "I never did believe too much in gym workouts. A beautiful gym boxer can be lousy in the ring."

Hersey explained he is satified with Tiger's work in training.

"He has never been too impressive in workouts. He's a punishing body puncher but he's not working on the body in training. We're concentrating on timing and combinations."

Jones pointed out that men react differently to a championship. "It makes some better and others become over-confident. But Tiger didn't come here to lose his crown and he'll be prepared for any tactic Fullmer uses."

The manager discounted rumors that the fact Fullmer is the sympathetic favorite is bothering Tiger.

"Tiger has made a career out of fighting in the other fellow's backyard. He came to London from Nigeria and lost 4 bouts while he learned to box. The weather got him but he never quit, he's too determined. As far as Tiger's concerned if the fight was in West Jordon, Utah, it wouldn't bother him," Jones continued.

Tiger's camp believes the fight may end after 10 rounds.

"They could both fight themselves into exhaustion in 10 rounds, then condition will win," said Jones.

Tiger boxed Tuesday and will again Wednesday, then loosen up Thursday. On Friday the champion will rest before the weigh-in Saturday morning.

"There's no problem with his weight, he'll come in at 160," Jones said.

Decatur Moves To 3rd In D

No Action Taken On Race Track

Lancaster County Commissioners took no action on the proposed relocation of the Lincoln Speedways race track Tuesday.

The proposal drew more than 60 opponents at a public hearing.

The objectors to moving the auto racing track to the State Fairgrounds protested to having it located near their homes and businesses because of noise, dust and odors.

Lincoln Speedways owners, Art Stueber and Paul Saenz, have applied to transfer their license from its present location at Capitol Beach to the Fairgrounds.

The race track must move from the beach, now a part of the city, because city ordinance forbids that type of operation within the city limits.

Proponents of the location emphasized the need for such a recreation in Lincoln with no baseball team, and activities of the University of Nebraska and at Pershing Municipal Auditorium being practically nil in the summer.

Decatur moves into 3rd position in the Class D ratings.

Coach John Freeland's club, winningest team in the Class D ranks, knocked Herman from the unbeaten ranks to earn a one-notch promotion.

Decatur has won 19 games, losing only to Pender.

The field is still led by Sumner, the Ft. Kearney Conference king with a perfect seasonal 17-0 mark.

Other unbeaten clubs retained last week's positions—second-ranked Clay Center (15-0) and 5th-rated De Witt (13-0). De Witt did not play.

Eagle-Alvo returns to the top 10 picture, replacing Weston. Coach John Stilwell's Eagle club has won 13 and lost 4. All defeats have been to Class C schools.

Decatur and Herman could run together again if they survive district action. Their district winners will be in a Class D playoff at Howells on March 5-7.

Both touted clubs will face tougher district opposition than most Class D powers. Decatur must meet Bancroft, a challenger to the D list while Herman is opposite Weston and Yutan.

Medlar Moves Up

Charles (Chuck) Medlar, who assisted retiring coach Joe Bedenk for the last 14 years, is now head baseball coach at Penn State.

Cincinnati Retains AP Lead

. . . DUKE JUMPS TO 2ND, LOYOLA FALLS

North Texas State and Tulsa had better batten down the cyclone cellars. This is the week that the Cincinnati Bearcats are out for revenge.

The Bearcats, still the nation's No. 1 team in the latest Associated Press poll despite their first loss of the season, know that they will have to avoid any more mishaps if they want to hang on to that coveted ranking.

Cincinnati fell, 65-64, to Wichita last Saturday, ending its 37-game, two-season winning streak.

Luckily for the Bearcats, it was a week of broken dreams all along the line. Defeat visited no fewer than 7 of the top ten teams in the previous AP poll, dropping 3 out of the elite ranks altogether and sending 3 others down the ladder.

In the new line-up, based on the votes of 42 members of the AP panel of sports writers and sportscasters, Duke—undefeated since the week before Christmas—jumped into second place, over Chicago of Loyola.

The high-scoring Ramblers fell a notch to 3rd on a defeat to Bowling Green. They were the only other major undefeated team.

Minden's Bunger Week's Star

. . . PEPPED UPSET WIN OVER UNI HIGH

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Gangling Ron Bunger and his Minden basketball mates ripped Lincoln University High last week, 75-46, leaving the Class B field wide open.

The Kearney Daily Hub reported the Whippets made "a joke of the metropolitan rating list" which last week had University High on top of Class B along with Crete.

Bunger, a 6-5, 170-pounder, scored 18 points to lead the romp against the Lincoln club, earning him the Player of the Week award.

He's the tallest of a rawboned Minden crew that now has won 11 and lost twice and is second-rated in the state.

Larry Wilcox (6-2) and Dave Samuelson (6-3) are other tall Minden veterans.

Other outstanding performers last week included:

Jerry Motz, Lincoln Northeast—41-point weekend assisted Rockets in pair of victories.

Leroy Vitosh, Odell—12 field goals in 20 attempts crushed Humboldt and gave 4-year veteran his career high showing.

Don Johnson, Fullerton—19-point second half (22 for game) sparked upset of Schuyler.

Alan Becher, Wisner—Key man in defeat of Wayne.

Jim Phillips, McCook—Scored just 4 points but was damaging around boards as Scottsbluff stumbled by 22 points.

Gary Spies, Dodge—State tournament veteran hit 17 points against Leigh to bring home Mid-State championship.

Brown Plans No Fight Legislation

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)— Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Tuesday he will not seek legislation this year to outlaw professional boxing in California.

He said he still feels it's a dirty business and he'd like to see it outlawed.

But he told a new conference, he has to give priority to things he considers far more important at the current session of the legislature.

THE DEPENDABLES BUILT BY DODGE!

GO FOR THE BIG, STRONG, SILENT TYPE?

TRY THIS ONE

Most people think of Dodge as a medium-price car. Because it has been for many years. Because it's big. Almost 18 ft. long.

But in spite of its bigness and tradition, the 1963 Dodge is a low-price automobile.

This year, for instance, if you can afford a Chevy, you can afford a Dodge.

Understand, we are not talking about one special model. There are 24 models, in three series, all in the low-price field.

And the 1963 Dodge is an automobile so strong, so well-made it is backed by a five year or 50,000 mile warranty*.

No wonder we call them "The Dependables". They are.

*Your Dodge Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair without charge for required parts or labor for five years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first; on the engine block, head and internal parts; (excluding manual clutch); torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings—provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Dodge Certified Car Care schedules.

Pennant Win Boosts Giants' Confidence

San Francisco Gaints (18th in a series of 1963 teams prospects written under the manager's own byline).

By ALVIN DARK

San Francisco (AP)—I believe that the Giants will be stronger the coming season, not so much because of new faces, but because of the greater confidence and poise developed by winning the National League pennant last year.

Also, a couple of our regulars grew in stature last year. Outfielder Felipe Alou, for example, and Jose Pagan at shortstop now compare with the best in the league.

Pitching is always a big question. Every club seeks more pitching and ours is no exception. We'll be on the lookout for new pitchers during spring training and we'd like to find some extra help from among Jack Fisher and Billy Hoeft, both obtained from Baltimore, Bob Garibaldi, Gaylord Perry, Bob Bolin, Ron Herbel and a couple of other youngsters we'll have in camp.

Top 4 Hurlers

Our top 4 pitchers are Jack Sanford, Juan Marichal, Billy O'Dell and Billy Pierce. They won 77 games among them last year—more than any other starting 4 in the league. We'll be depending on them a great deal again this season.

We have balance, established strength and good reserves in the other departments.

Orlando Cepeda, Chuck Hiller, Pagan and Jim Davenport give us a fine infield. Willie McCovey can platoon at first base and the outfield, and Harvey Kuenn is a versatile team man, too.

Willie Mays is still one of the greatest. Felipe's brother, Matty Alou, is also a good outfielder. Behind the plate, Tom Haller and Ed Bailey fortify us solidly.

Hitting Power

We have batting power to score runs and our defense is more than adequate.

However I don't think that the road ahead is an easy one. The entire National League is stronger and better balanced. The Dodgers will be taking dead aim again. Cincinnati, with an excellent pitching staff, plus Frank Robinson, Vada Pinson, Gordie Coleman and Eddie Kasko, is really formidable. Dick Groat will surely strengthen the Cardinals and the Phillies have probably improved more than any other club in the league during the past year.

There's little doubt in my mind that it's going to be a tough pennant race. We may even have to play better than last year to win it.

Catholic Rev. Claims Meet Will Be Held

Louisville, Ky., (AP) — The chairman of the National Catholic College Championship said Tuesday the basketball tournament "is far from being called off."

The Rev. James Harney made the statement in response to one by Ray Wimberg, president of the NCCC group, that the future of the tournament is cloudy.

Canisius, one of the 4 scheduled participants in the tournament, has withdrawn to play in the National Invitation Tournament, and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia will withdraw to play in the NCAA if it wins the Middle Atlantic Conference.

Father Harney said he has a team to replace Canisius and another to replace St. Joseph's if necessary.

"The tournament will take place as scheduled on March 8-9," he said. "There is no doubt about that whatsoever." Others in the tournament are Regis and Creighton.

Fish Snagging Ban Supported By Committee

The Legislature's Agriculture Committee decided Tuesday to bar fish snagging within Nebraska, but opened the door to powered spear fishing by skin and scuba divers.

The fish snagging ban was contained in LB621, introduced by Sens. Richard Lysinger of Ravenna and Albert A. Kjar of Lexington.

An amendment, approved 4-2, permits fish snagging on the Missouri River but prohibits it on other Nebraska waters. The amended bill then was reported out on a 5-1 vote.

The powered spear fishing bill, LB616, was introduced by Sens. Fred O. Gottschalk of Columbus, George Syas and William Moulton of Omaha.

LB616 drew no opposition at the public hearing and was supported in testimony by several Omaha and Lincoln participants in the diving sport.

Road Proposals Unopposed

. . . COUNTY BOARD TAKES NO ACTION

Lancaster County's $1,200,000 proposed road program for 1963 drew no opposition at a public hearing before the County Board Tuesday.

Commissioners took no action, indicating they had until the end of February to do so.

The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce streets and highways committee fully endorsed County Engineer Hugh Dillon's proposed program and sought two additional paving projects.

Harold Stebbins, representing the group, asked that the board consider paving a three-eighths mile strip on No. 66th between O St. and the Missouri Pacific tracks, and a one-third mile strip between 14th St. and Cornhusker Highway on Adams.

Tax Commended

He also commended the board on the passage of the half-mill levy in the budget for road improvement this year.

Representatives from Gateway Shopping Center and the Bethany Businessmen also spoke out in favor of paving the No. 66th strip.

Julian H. Hopkins and Harold Booth, representing Banker's Life Nebraska, made a plea for paving a quarter mile on R east to 66th, since 70th cannot be paved this year.

86% In Favor

They pointed out that a survey in the area had indicated that 86% of the residents favored paving 66th.

Others spoke out in favor of Dillon's proposals, which include 6 miles of new paving, 50 miles of regrading and graveling, 5 new bridges, 12 concrete box culverts and some new maintenance equipment.

Board Chairman Ralph Harlan complimented Dillon, saying, "By and large, you have a real fine program."

Mead Might Mean Ag-Ed For Inmates

The Nebraska Department of Institutions is interested in organizing an agricultural-educational program for Penitentiary and Reformatory inmates, centered about a 640-acre tract near Mead.

Institutions Director George Morris says it's all in the talking stage so far, but confirmed that his office has expressed interest in acquiring a 640-acre tract now owned by the federal government.

Any such program would have to be undertaken in cooperation with the University of Nebraska, he acknowledged.

Ex-Radio Site

The Air Force plans to dispose of the property, formerly used as a radio transmitter site. The area is immediately adjacent to the University's new experimental station.

Morris said one of the buildings contains dormitory space for 60 men, plus kitchen facilities.

The facilities could provide "a pretty solid program of training," both academic and on-the-job, he said.

Stock Market Has Setback

New York (AP) — A general decline of blue chips, combined with big gains by a few specialy-situated issues, highlighted Tuesday the sharpest stock market decline of this month. Trading was moderately active.

Losses of most key stocks were frational, some going to a point or so.

Jumps of 6¼ for U.S. Smelting and 3⅜ for United Carbon were upside features.

Brokers ascribed the setback chiefly to profit taking.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 2.13 to 686.83.

Among the losers were steels, motors, oils, utilities, airlines, chemicals, and aerospace issues.

Of 1,300 issues traded, losers outnumbered gainers by the wide margin of 651 to 366. New 1962-63 highs totaled 27 and new lows seven.

Volume tapered off to 4.13 million shares from Monday's 4.7 million.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.2 to 258.7 with industrials off 1.4, rails off .1, and utilities off 1.3.

Eight of the 15 most active stocks declined, 6 advanced, and Gillette was unchanged.

An estimated $1.7 billion was clipped from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the decline in the AP average.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed on volume of 1.06 million shares, compared with 1.28 million Monday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S government bonds declined.

Hiking Okay For 'Kids,' But Dr. Ryder Declines Challenge

Grand Island (AP)— "It's all right for those kids to get up and run along the highway if they want to, but it's foolish for an older man."

That was the reaction of Mayor Frank Ryder to a hiking challenge from Mayor Jack Thorne of Hastings. Thorne had proposed that mayors and city attorneys of Hastings an Grand Island start walking from their respective cities toward Doniphan, about 12 miles for each.

Dr. Ryder

Thorne would be accompanied by City Atty. Gerald Whelan. Both men are in their 30s. Thorne told Dr. Ryder, now in his 70s, that he could nominate a councilman as a substitute, but no such offer was made for Grand Island City Atty. Richard Huber, also in his 30s.

Ryder said he had turned the matter over to Huber to "handle the details." Ryder also reported that no city councilman had come forth yet to volunteer to take his place, but that the matter "might possibly be considered at the council meeting Wednesday."

Ryder said he was keeping in mind his teachings as a physician that it was not advisable for an office man to take long hikes unless he was conditioned for it. The mayor said the American Medical Association had taken a similar stand.

Ryder noted that when he was the age of the Hastings' mayor, he had taken numerous 20 to 22 mile hikes as a member of the Army. "We walked 20 miles during the day and then danced all night, but we were in shape to do it."

Huber, who is president of the Grand Island YMCA, said he is very busy with city legal matters. He said, however, he would accept the challenge without hesitation "if I weren't so concerned that I would have to spend a lot of valuable time in Doniphan waiting for the Hastings city attorney to arrive."

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

Senate Okays Herter, Bell

Washington (AP)—The Senate confirmed Tuesday nominations of Christian A. Herter as President Kennedy's special representative for trade negotiations and David E. Bell to head the foreign aid program.

And it overrode a protest by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, to confirm Bill D. Moyers, 28, as a $19,500-a-year deputy director of the Peace Corps.

All were by voice vote.

Herter Approved

Herter, Republican former governor of Massachusetts and Secretary of State during the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration, was approved after speeches by Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and John S. Cooper, R-Ky., praising his appointment.

He will have the rank of ambassador in the post he has held under a recess appointment.

The nomination of former budget director Bell, as administrator of the Agency for International Development, was protested by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb. Lausche also said he wanted to be recorded as voting against confirmation.

Fires at Bell

Curtis said that Bell, as budget director, had in substance said in testifying before the Senate Finance Committee that "a deficit is a good thing," and the government's 1962 deficit was planned as an anti-recession measure.

But most of the fire was directed at Moyers, a former Texas newsman who before joining the Peace Corps was a personal assistant to then senator, and now vice president, Lyndon B. Johnson. He served as executive assistant to Johnson during the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson election campaign.

Lausche said the $19,500 annual salary to be paid Moyers was part of a "fantastic" hiring policy by the government. He called the appointment "a political plum and nothing else—he was rewarded for his political work."

Curtis joined in the protest and both shouted "no" when the vote was taken.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

Betancourt Presents JFK A Plan To Strengthen OAS

Washington (UPI)—President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela arrived Tuesday and promptly laid before President Kennedy proposals for strengthening the western hemisphere defense alliance.

At a 75-minute White House conference, Betancourt discussed with Kennedy his plans for increasing the importance and vitality of the Organization of American States (OAS). Kennedy said the conference was "very good."

Betancourt was said to have told the President that OAS needs more muscle to carry out the fight against poverty launched by the Alliance for Progress and to counter Communist subversion in Latin America.

The Venezuelan president was said to be thinking of calling on the American foreign ministers to meet at least once a year to review Alliance for Progress programs. Betancourt also favors increasing military and security vigilance in the Caribbean to prevent the training of Latin Americans in communism and subversion.
